THE Queen of Rumania, interesting lady worthy of hospitality is here, and on the front page. The widow of a president of the United States comes on the same boat, and she is not on the front page.

This is an 18-karat democracy, but we are still a little more interested in queens than in ordinary people.

THIS country will learn after awhile that a highway with heavy automobile traveling 50 miles an hour with no rails to keep them in place is as dangerous as any railroad with its express trains.

In a head-on collision last Sunday one man turned suddenly from behind a truck, put on the brakes and skidded into a car coming from the opposite direction. Four were killed and all the 14 occupants of two cars hurt.

Speed should be limited strictly on the public highways, if necessary, by a mechanical appliance on every car. And reckless driving resulting in death should be punished as manslaughter.

LORRIN A. THURSTON, editor of the Honolulu Advertiser, is here, and can tell you about our Hawaiian islands things more interesting than the Queen of Rumania will have to tell you.

For instance, Hawaii is the only supply station for ships and flying machines in a Pacific ocean territory bounded east and west by Hong-Kong and Panama, north and south by Unalaska and Tahiti.

TAKE a piece of the globe as big as that and move it eastward. You will find that it would reach from San Francisco across the United States and across the Atlantic ocean, across Europe, across Turkey in Asia and into the middle of Persia.

North and south it would reach from south Greenland to Rio Janeiro.

Our Hawaiian islands, the center and controlling point of such a vast place, are worth attention.

INCIDENTALLY, these islands produce one hundred million dollars' worth of sugar every year, thirty million dollars' worth of pineapples, and they have only begun their productivity. One concern has recently purchased an island to plant 5,000 more acres of pineapples.

And at Honolulu the biggest fruit canning plant in the world doubles its size this year to take care of the increasing crop.

AN ENGLISH girl has been in a trance for 12 months, and from every direction come sincere efforts to help her. Faith cures of a dozen minds, spiritualtists, herbalists. A Japanese wrestler believes that physical treatment would relieve her and a good Christian sends a bottle of holy water from the miraculous spring of Lourdes.

TO THE material eye the case is that of an electric bell that will not ring. The wires are out of order or the battery is weak. When you consider that there are in the brains of that girl, as is every human brain,

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR SPEAKS AT OPEN AIR MEETING

Cincinnati Home Builder Tells East Liverpool Potters That He Has Employed Union Workers for 25 Years.

PEACE MARKED RELATIONSHIP

Candidate, Winding Up Tour of Columbiana County, Stresses Need of Business Methods in Government.

A pledge for the protection of union labor was made by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican candidate for governor, in an address before approximately 300 persons at an open air meeting in the Diamond at noon today.

The Republican standard bearer was introduced by County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, chairman of the Columbiana County Republican central committee, who accompanied him on the second day of his swing through Columbiana county.

In presenting Cooper, Chairman Walker introduced him as "Ohio's next governor."

Cooper's Attitude Toward Labor.

His own attitude toward labor is shown, Cooper said, by the fact that for 25 years he has employed union labor in his home-building enterprises in Cincinnati and has "never had a strike, lock-out, or disagreement of any kind whatsoever."

One-third of his employes own their own homes through assistance he gave them, he declared, while the rental-payment plan which he originated has been the model for the nation and has aided thousands of working families all over the country to live in debt-free homes.

"The prosperity of the state and nation depends to a large extent upon the welfare of the working classes," Cooper declared, "and as governor I will do everything within my power to promote the interests of labor.

"If there is any change in the workmen's compensation act during my administration it will be to strengthen and broaden its benefits."

Calls for Check on Taxes.

Discussing taxes and their relationship to industry and labor, Cooper warned that unless a check is put on the constant pyramiding of taxation in Ohio "the state may some day drive out some of its largest industries."

The problem of taxation must be solved soon, he said, if Ohio is to hold her place in the industrial sun of America.

"I have it on the word of one of the biggest steel men in Ohio," Cooper said, "that the taxes he has to pay are just twice what he would have to pay if his plants were across the line in Pennsylvania, and that the burden constitutes a very serious problem in his business.

"If I am elected, I purpose to make a thorough study of taxation. My first step will be to make the state live within its income and point the way for greater economy by cities, counties and local subdivisions."

Hits Donahy Tax Plan.

The republican gubernatorial candidate stressed his opposition to the half-mill direct property tax levy advocated by Governor Donahey.

QUEEN MARIE OFF TO NAVAL ACADEMY, FIRST STOP OF TOUR

Roumanian Royalty Will Then Look in on Baltimore.

AUTO CARAVAN

Her Majesty Will Return to New York Tonight.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 20.—In a driving rain, Queen Marie of Roumania today reviewed the midshipmen of the United States Naval academy.

The queen and her party, accompanied by Rear Admiral B. F. Nulton and his staff of the academy, stood under a canopy as the faultless rows of blue clad midshipmen passed by in the rain and mud.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. — Thirty-nine hours as official guest of the American government behind her, Queen Marie, of Roumania, left Washington this morning to explore the United States as a private, but exceedingly distinguished tourist.

The first stop outside of the national capital for this unusual visitor of royalty was to be Annapolis, Maryland, seat of the U. S. naval academy. From there, after a brief stop of inspection, her majesty is scheduled to look in on Baltimore for luncheon and a public reception. And from the latter point, she will entrain for New York, there to rest—at least comparatively—until the start Thursday of her trans-continental tour.

Promptly at 9 o'clock, Queen Marie, her children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, and the royal entourage pulled away from the Roumanian legation for Annapolis. In the long line of automobiles rode her entire party, including ladies-in-waiting, American naval and military aides and personal friends accompanying. A detail of Maryland state police escorted the caravan.

Loses Status as Guest.

Behind her, the queen left a cyclorama picture of official Washington, points of national historic interest, facts and figures of American history and a meeting and dinner with President and Mrs. Coolidge. Her stay in the capital had been limited, but the state department had conducted her over a sight-seeing route such as would have struck joy in the heart of any native tourist.

With the departure from Washington, Queen Marie lost her status as a guest of the government and became a tourist enjoying extraordinary privileges. Her tour from now on is in the hands of the railroads, the reception committees of the cities she will visit, and the watchfulness of the secret service agents of the state department.

Marie, however, will tour as a queen. Asked about the future of her journey through America, she replied:

"I shall travel as a queen. I am a queen and I can picture myself as nothing else."

32 Pints of Liquor Found in Burlap Sack at State Line

Thirty-two pint bottles of moonshine whisky were found near the state line at 8 o'clock this morning and turned over to the police. The liquor was in a burlap sack, when it was picked up by a passerby, brought to the Diamond and turned over to Patrolman William Lister.

The liquor was destroyed.

DEFENSE MOTIONS TO QUASH INDICTMENTS IN WELLSVILLE BRIBERY CHARGES ARE OVERRULED

Efforts of the defense to bring the trial of Rocco Carbicella and Frank Fusco, of Wellsville, indicted by the last grand jury on charges of bribery, to an end in common pleas court, Lisbon, today failed when Judge W. H. Spence overruled motions of Attorney W. A. O'Grady to quash indictments against the accused men.

The motions followed testimony by Sheriff George Wright, who said that he had talked in English with Carbicella and Fusco on different occasions and that they had understood him.

Attorney O'Grady then filed a motion to quash the indictment against Fusco, declaring there was no evidence to show a crime had been committed.

Prosecutor Robert Brookes opposed the motion, arguing that entrapment cannot be held as a defense.

The court held that statutes provided that joint offenders could be tried jointly and that evidence indicated Carbicella and Fusco had been connected.

Attorney O'Grady's second motion to quash both indictments, also was overruled.

Three star witnesses for the state yesterday were W. J. Courtney, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh office of the Burns Detective agency; J. A. Ciotola and Ernest Esther, investigators.

Mayor George Russell, of Salem, and Mayor W. L. Fogo, of Wellsville, have been subpoenaed to bring their dockets into court today for the purpose of showing the record of the defendants in those two courts.

Sheriff on Witness Stand.

Sheriff Wright, who was the first witness called by the state Tuesday afternoon, testified that Carbicella and Fusco called at his office at the county jail Monday evening, Sept. 13, and, after talking about certain conditions in Wellsville, Carbicella, before he left the jail, gave him a cigar and thrust a roll of money into the pocket of the sheriff and declared that the "policeman was killed by mistake."

"I told them there was nothing doing," Sheriff Wright testified as he explained he returned the money.

Wright also testified that on the following day he was "flagged" by the two men as he was driving his car south toward East Liverpool on the Lincoln highway between Lisbon and West Point. He said that one of the men, Carbicella, said he wanted to see him again and that Carbicella added that he "didn't want the sheriff to take offense at what had happened the night before."

Sheriff Wright declared that he went to Wellsville the following day to serve grand jury subpoenas and called at the Carbicella place. Carbicella, the officer testified, made a date to meet him at the county jail on Thursday, Sept. 16. Both Carbicella and Fusco went to the county jail with fruit and confections to be given to Nick Scaccuto and Joe Fusco, who were held in jail under a first degree murder charge. They also gave the sheriff some cigars, the officer said.

He then explained that three representatives of the Burns detective agency, who were hiding in the living room at the jail, stepped into the office as the two defendants are alleged to have been in the act of passing money to the sheriff.

Sheriff Wright then introduced as evidence a number of paper bills,

DEFENSE MOTIONS TO QUASH INDICTMENTS IN WELLSVILLE BRIBERY CHARGES ARE OVERRULED

Efforts of the defense to bring the trial of Rocco Carbicella and Frank Fusco, of Wellsville, indicted by the last grand jury on charges of bribery, to an end in common pleas court, Lisbon, today failed when Judge W. H. Spence overruled motions of Attorney W. A. O'Grady to quash indictments against the accused men.

The motions followed testimony by Sheriff George Wright, who said that he had talked in English with Carbicella and Fusco on different occasions and that they had understood him.

Attorney O'Grady then filed a motion to quash the indictment against Fusco, declaring there was no evidence to show a crime had been committed.

Prosecutor Robert Brookes opposed the motion, arguing that entrapment cannot be held as a defense.

The court held that statutes provided that joint offenders could be tried jointly and that evidence indicated Carbicella and Fusco had been connected.

Attorney O'Grady's second motion, to quash both indictments, also was overruled.

Three star witnesses for the state yesterday were W. J. Courtney, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh office of the Burns Detective agency; J. A. Ciotola and Ernest Esther, investigators.

Mayor George Russell, of Salem, and Mayor W. L. Fogo, of Wellsville, have been subpoenaed to bring their dockets into court today for the purpose of showing the record of the defendants in those two courts.

Sheriff on Witness Stand.

Sheriff Wright, who was the first witness called by the state Tuesday afternoon, testified that Carbicella and Fusco called at his office at the county jail Monday evening, Sept. 13, and, after talking about certain conditions in Wellsville, Carbicella, before he left the jail, gave him a cigar and thrust a roll of money into the pocket of the sheriff and declared that the "policeman was killed by mistake."

"I told them there was nothing doing," Sheriff Wright testified as he explained he returned the money.

Wright also testified that on the following day he was "flagged" by the two men as he was driving his car south toward East Liverpool on the Lincoln highway between Lisbon and West Point. He said that one of the men, Carbicella, said he wanted to see him again and that Carbicella added that he "didn't want the sheriff to take offense at what had happened the night before."

Sheriff Wright declared that he went to Wellsville the following day to serve grand jury subpoenas and called at the Carbicella place. Carbicella, the officer testified, made a date to meet him at the county jail on Thursday, Sept. 16. Both Carbicella and Fusco went to the county jail with fruit and confections to be given to Nick Scaccuto and Joe Fusco, who were held in jail under a first degree murder charge. They also gave the sheriff some cigars, the officer said.

He then explained that three representatives of the Burns detective agency, who were hiding in the living room at the jail, stepped into the office as the two defendants are alleged to have been in the act of passing money to the sheriff.

Sheriff Wright then introduced as evidence a number of paper bills,

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made
Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The greatest virtue any car can offer
"Its engine improves with use"

ELIMINATE engine-vibration—minimize friction—do away with carbon troubles and valve grinding—and you accomplish these two important things . . .

Your up-keep cost is cut in half—and you add scores of thousands of perfectly good miles to the usefulness of your car.

In the poppet-valve-engined car, it is the pounding of cams against push-rods, the contact of push-rods on rocker-arms, the recoil of valves under coiled springs that cause vibration. And, in time, vibration will wreck the finest engine ever built into a poppet-valve car.

In the sleeve-valve-engined Willys-Knight there is no pounding of metal upon metal. No elaborate mechanism of rocker-arms and springs . . . You never have carbon troubles. There are no valves to grind . . .

The Knight engine is simplicity itself. It consists of but two metal sleeves operating with a gliding motion. No vibration. No friction. Simply two single sleeves working smoothly, silently, up and down, one within the other, in a constant film of oil—and that is all!

Willys-Knight Great Six prices from $1750 to $2495. Prices f.o.b. factory and specifications subject to change without notice. The Willys Finance Plan offers unusually attractive credit terms. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio. Willys-Overland Sales Co., Ltd., Toronto, Canada.

Don't Be Penny Wise and Pound Foolish Particularly When You Buy a Rug

Earl Carroll's Vanities, Big Musical Revue, Here Thursday

New York Hit, Satirizing Timely Topics of Day, Coming to Ceramic.

"The Earl Carroll Vanities," under the direction of Jos. De Milt, Inc., will be seen in East Liverpool for the first time at the Ceramic theatre Thursday night. That this musical revue is a colossal success has been proven by the enormous box office receipts in New York at the Earl Carroll theatre, where all previous standards were smashed by the record breaking returns from the engagement of 478 consecutive performances.

Instead of a series of parodies on the current New York attractions as the custom is in the average musical revue, "The Vanities" hold a unique place in that it satirizes timely topics of the day which are familiar to everybody. Being unlimited by any of the restrictions depending upon an audience familiar with New York productions there is a universal appeal in the "Vanities" with its wit, pep, and whirlwind brand of comedy.

In addition to this, scenically, the "Vanities' is one of the most elaborate and lavish to be seen here. An army of stage hands has been mobilized to effect the quick scenic changes which number 31 in their entirety. The costumes in this stupendous production are gorgeous in the extreme, all the latest Parisian effects having been utilized to produce tone pictures that are stunning and harmonious.

Last but not least the cast who will exploit the "Vanities" is notable for its talent and liveliness. Youth is written large over the entire ensemble and stamps itself from the curtain's rise with a jovous spontaneity expressed both in terms of the brain and the feet. The sprightly juvenility of its delightful dancing is brilliant in its execution and thoroughly novel. The featured principals in the revue are Lou Powers, Bert Swor. Dave Chasen and the perfect Venus, Irene Swor. Other important members of the cast are Lew Miller, John Coyle, Alice Bradford, Marion Dowling, Kenneth Lackey, Aimee Archer, Johnny Dove, Ricco, Harry Sharpe, Louise Brooks, Walter Hamilton, John Kirk, Mary Mansfield, Emmy Dean, Virginia May, Mae Valle, Billie Menzies, Babe Bryant, Marie Goode and Ray Kavanaugh and the Earl Carroll Theatre Orchestra.

The book was written by William A. Grew and the music by Clarence Gaskill, while the dances and ensembles were arranged by David Bennett, with the entire production staged under the personal direction of Earl Carroll.

Some pessimists predict that soon man will be more interested in baking a cake, or doing fancy needlework. Maybe they're right. McGEEHEN'S ANNIVERSARY

THURSDAY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

We are celebrating our 2nd Anniversary — and going stronger every day — so much so that we have found it necessary to make some interior changes so that we may display our goods to better advantage and make it more convenient for our customers to see the articles they wish to buy.

We believe that, with these improvements, we will not only be able to continue our good service of the past but will be in a position to better it in many ways.

As we were unable to take care of the large crowd that attended our First Anniversary Sale last year, we have decided to start it this year on Thursday, continuing through Friday and Saturday of this week.

Earl Carroll's Vanities, Big Musical Revue, Here Thursday

New York Hit, Satirizing Timely Topics of Day, Coming to Ceramic.

"The Earl Carroll Vanities," under the direction of Jos. De Milt, Inc., will be seen in East Liverpool for the first time at the Ceramic theatre Thursday night. That this musical revue is a colossal success has been proven by the enormous box office receipts in New York at the Earl Carroll theatre, where all previous standards were smashed by the record breaking returns from the engagement of 478 consecutive performances.

Instead of a series of parodies on the current New York attractions as the custom is in the average musical revue, "The Vanities" hold a unique place in that it satirizes timely topics of the day which are familiar to everybody. Being unlimited by any of the restrictions depending upon an audience familiar with New York productions there is a universal appeal in the "Vanities" with its wit, pep, and whirlwind brand of comedy.

In addition to this, scenically, the "Vanities' is one of the most elaborate and lavish to be seen here. An army of stage hands has been mobilized to effect the quick scenic changes which number 31 in their entirety. The costumes in this stupendous production are gorgeous in the extreme, all the latest Parisian effects having been utilized to produce tone pictures that are stunning and harmonious.

Last but not least the cast who will exploit the "Vanities" is notable for its talent and liveliness. Youth is written large over the entire ensemble and stamps itself from the curtain's rise with a joyous spontaneity expressed both in terms of the brain and the feet. The sprightly juvenility of its delightful dancing is brilliant in its execution and thoroughly novel. The featured principals in the revue are Lou Powers, Bert Swor, Dave Chasen and the perfect Venus, Irene Swor. Other important members of the cast are Lew Miller, John Coyle, Alice Bradford, Marion Dowling, Kenneth Lackey, Aimee Archer, Johnny Dove, Ricco, Harry Sharpe, Louise Brooks, Walter Hamilton, John Kirk, Mary Mansfield, Emmy Dean, Virginia May, Mae Valle, Billie Menzies, Babe Bryant, Marie Goode and Ray Kavanaugh and the Earl Carroll Theatre Orchestra.

The book was written by William A. Grew and the music by Clarence Gaskill, while the dances and ensembles were arranged by David Bennett, with the entire production staged under the personal direction of Earl Carroll.

WILL WOMEN RULE US IN 1950?

Some pessimists predict that soon man will be more interested in baking a cake, or doing fancy needlework. Maybe they're right. It's a fact he no longer can lay the law down in his own home, and it is beginning to look as if the women politicians will eventually take away this privilege in the legislatures.

2nd McGEEHEN'S ANNIVERSARY

THURSDAY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

We are celebrating our 2nd Anniversary — and going stronger every day — so much so that we have found it necessary to make some interior changes so that we may display our goods to better advantage and make it more convenient for our customers to see the articles they wish to buy.

We believe that, with these improvements, we will not only be able to continue our good service of the past but will be in a position to better it in many ways.

As we were unable to take care of the large crowd that attended our First Anniversary Sale last year, we have decided to start it this year on Thursday, continuing through Friday and Saturday of this week.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1926.

Wellsville Schools Seek Tax Levy

Wellsville and East Liverpool boards of education are riding in the same boat insofar as finances are concerned.

Like the East Liverpool district schools, which include the educational institutions in the city proper, three precincts of Liverpool township and the Southwest precinct of St. Clair township, the halls of learning in the sister city have appealed to the taxpayers to sanction an additional levy to meet operating expenses.

Wellsville electors will pass judgment on a proposed four-mill tax at the Nov. 2 election while East Liverpool voters are voicing their sentiments on a 2.3 mill proposal.

Submission of the additional millage question on the part of the two school districts is prompted by a state law which prohibits the borrowing of money by boards of education in anticipation of funds to be collected during the tax year. In other words, the statute demands the management of the schools on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

In Wellsville, electors are asked to add one mill to cope with the annual deficit and renew the three-mill levy which was voted in the fall of 1923 and which expired with the June collection of taxes this year.

If the Wellsville and East Liverpool schools are to maintain their present high standards—they are on the accredited list in Ohio—additional funds are necessary. Otherwise, drastic reductions in the faculty, probable curtailment of the school term and lowering of the standards will result.

Vote "yes" on the school tax levies.

What Do You Want?

You say you are not going to vote this time? Why not?

"What's the difference? The politicians sew everything up anyhow?"

There is this difference. If you keep on not voting, the politicians will take that as permission given by you to sew things up more and more until some fine morning you find you cannot get out of the web they have sewed around you.

If you keep on voting, showing your opinion and getting your neighbors to show their opinions, the politicians will have to defer to those opinions and do their sewing along the lines you mark for their seams.

Besides, it does make a difference. In one small city two years ago a most important improvement failed to carry by—guess how many votes. Seven.

That's your vote and your wife's and those in three or four houses more.

There were about a thousand voters in that city. Only 200 voted at all, and the negatives got it by seven votes.

One election will not decide every matter in the best possible way. But one brick does not make a foundation nor one robin a spring. Nor does one newspaper editorial get out the vote.

But if there is enough urge to vote, and enough votes are cast at this election, and enough votes at the next and the next, eventually this town and county and country will be a better place to live in.

The only way to get what you want is to keep on making plain that you want it.

Fourscore Years For All

"It is within the power of man to rid himself of every parasitic disease," declares Prof. Irving Fisher, addressing the American Health association. "The chief difficulty is not lack of knowledge but lack of appreciation. Even the common sense knowledge of exercise, sleep, fresh air and food is not yet well applied."

He is so hopeful of the outcome that he predicts this will become a nation of octogenarians by the end of the present century.

Seventy-four years is a long time to wait, but anyone may begin now and anticipate future blessedness by living more healthfully, according to information available everywhere.

Particularly must such reform be applied to the young. If our children and grandchildren are to enjoy health and longevity beyond the power of present-day grown-ups, this is the time to start.

Manly Debtors

It is good to hear Henry G. Chilton, charge d'affaires of the British embassy at Washington, saying he is glad the fuss over the British war debt has died down, and adding:

"I have little sympathy for those who whine or complain about it, because it seems to me that in the first place whining and complaining simply reduce our credit and by so much diminish the benefit we gained by our action, and secondly, because it is neither manly nor dignified."

This is the attitude taken by most of the responsible men in England. It is an attitude which, by commanding the respect of Americans, is likely to benefit the British people more in the long run than "whining," whether there are further debt reductions or not.

Manliness and fairness—being "good sports"—always pays. Americans would feel more liberal-minded as well as more respectful toward Europe in general if this British attitude were more common over there at present.

The Old Order Changeth — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—There is a distressing side to these New York welcoming demonstrations which burst with the ziss-boom-ahh of a flaming skyrocket and descend with the same unnoticed back yard plink. The town loves to roar a welcome and forget it.

The ruckus is not confined to the rabble that hailed a lady channel swimmer with banners emblazoned: "Welcome to our HERO!" It draws the cognescenti in braided morning coats and silk toppers. The entire island will thunder its "Bravo!"

If the celebrity is returning from Europe, piers will be jammed, bands will play, aeroplanes will shower roses, tugs will siren a deafening din, and the confused and bewildered victim will be led through ankle deep confetti to the City Hall steps to be welcomed by the Mayor.

New York is theirs for the moment. Big business comes to a full stop and the natives go holidaying. Celebrities do not realize the hullabaloo is not so much a tribute to them as it is merely the expression of the play spirit of an over-worked city.

Somebody has said Gotham builds a triumphal arch in order to have something to hurl at the departed hero when he has passed by. The biggest hero celebration in the city's history was accorded Admiral Dewey and in a few weeks he was riddled with mockery.

The fervor of a New York crowd during a welcome huzzah is a curious study in mob psychology. Once unleashed it runs amuck among the old as well as young. Police reserves are helpless and it often requires many ambulances to cart away the trampled.

And the celebrities lifted to such dizzy pinnacles find themselves high and dry and almost unnoticed a few days later. New York seems to say: "We made fools of ourselves over you—beat it!" So they can only seek solace in the theatrical booking offices.

The greatest trial of stage stars is to face the inevitable public indifference when popularity wanes. Only the extremely philosophical can realize they had their day and make the best of it. Few are able to comprehend while applause is ringing in their ears that one day soon they will be pointed out as "once a star."

Upper Broadway in the Eighties has innumerable jewelry stores whose proprietors have returned from an audition of the tweeting birdies bound and gagged in a back room with their stock gone. To aid in their safety a "hold up" police alarm box has been installed in a sidewalk clock near 84th street.

There are 15 special air mail boxes striped red, white and blue between Grand Central and the battery yet they average only a few letters a day. Sufficient ordinary postage marked "Air Mail" does the trick and hasty New York is too busy to search out the special boxes.

New York seems to have shown undue excitement about the five year run of the "Abie" show. James A. Herne's first play "Hearts of Oak" ran twelve years.

In a rather nude musical revue program I notice: "Scanties furnished by the Blank Brassiere Co." What the heck, a country boys asks to know, is a scanty?

In the same program is an ad urging wives to romp to a certain studio and have their faces analyzed. It intimates the only way to keep a husband these day is to be always merry and bright.

HASKINS' LETTER

Millions in Precious Stamps.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Postage stamp collecting, which boys and girls start as a game and grown men and women make a lifetime hobby, profession, or business, is having one of its greatest demonstrations this week in New York where the International Postage Stamp Exhibition is being held in the Grand Central Palace. The greatest philatelic experts and the leading collectors from all parts of the world are in attendance. Some 600 collectors from many different countries are showing their rarest and most valuable collections, and in addition there are government exhibits by the United States, through the Post Office Department, and by Canada, Sweden, and Austria.

A grand champion trophy will be awarded for the best collection of rarities and fine specimens in the exhibition, and twelve palms of honor will be presented to the collectors whose exhibits show championship excellence in the issues of one of more countries. In addition there will be gold medals for the best exhibit from every stamp issuing country, and silver and bronze medals for those of outstanding merit—570 medals in all, the design for which was made by the famous sculptor, Emil Fuchs, who is distinguished in the philatelic world for his design of the British postage stamps bearing the portrait of the late King Edward.

Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 stamps are being shown, a total far in excess of that entered in any previous international exhibition. From 250,000 to 300,000 stamps are exhibited in 900 glass cases, 4 by 5 feet in dimensions, and so displayed that the judges can study every aspect of their peculiarities in variety, perforation, color shades, and state of preservation. The great bulk of the stamps, however, are exhibited in albums, many of the collectors who are competing in several classes having from 50 to 100 albums each.

The judges, of whom there are 24, have an almost impossible task in the inspecting and evaluating as rarities of these millions of stamps. Eight of the judges are from the United States, their group being headed by John N. Luff, who is conceded to be the greatest stamp expert in this country.

Runs Into Important Money.

The aggregate value of the exhibits in the Grand Central Palace can only be hazily approximated, but it runs into what the American slaughterer calls important money. Like rare pictures and other works of art, and rare coins, rare stamps are worth what their owners ask for them, or other avid collectors will pay for them. A line on values may be obtained from what famous collections have brought at sales.

The collection of Count de Ferrari, of Austria, the greatest philatelists have ever known, realized approximately $2,000,000. Ferrari was living and housing his collection in Paris at the time of the World war and it was seized by the French government as alien property and sold to help pay the French reparations claims. The collection of George Worthington, of Cleveland, netted his estate close to $1,000,000, while the Duveen collection, in England, was valued slightly in excess of that amount.

Arthur Hind, of Utica, who is now recognized as the leading stamp collector in the world—Ferrari's successor—is the principal American exhibitor at the Grand Central Palace. Three years ago at the international exhibition in London he won the grand championship trophy and it will occasion general surprise if he does not carry off the honors this year. No estimate has been made as to the value of Mr Hind's entire collection and he is not showing all of it in New York—only his choicest specimens and his most interesting units.

But one of his exhibits is creating a furore for it is the only one of its kind in the world. It is a one-cent British Guiana stamp of the issue of 1856, and Mr. Hind paid $32,500 for it at the Ferrari sale four years ago. Others of his treasures that he is showing include the Duveen one-penny, unused, and the two-penny, used, Mauritius stamps of the Post Office 1847 issue that are worth $15,000 to $20,000, and the only envelope in existence with the cancelled copies of both varieties, for which he recently paid $55,000 at a private sale.

Also he exhibits the only known copies of the Boscawen, N. H., stamp and the Lockport, N. Y., stamp which he purchased from the Ferrari collection for $12,000 and $8,500, respectively, and a copy of the rare Hawaiian Missionary two-cent stamp of 1851, acquired at the same time for $14,500. Mr. Hind's display also includes the largest collection in the world of the stamps of the native states of India, which fills twelve volumes of 120 pages each, and the finest of all collections of United States issues.

A Forester and Philatelist.

Another prominent American exhibitor is Charles Lathrop Pack, who is probably better known as a forestry expert and conservationist than as a philatelist, so far as the general public is concerned. Mr. Pack is showing his collection of early Victoria stamps, about which he wrote a monograph that won him the gold medal for philatelic research at the London exhibition, and his Brazilian collection. His son, Capt. Arthur N. Pack, is also exhibiting, his feature being a collection of New Zealand stamps said to be the finest in the world.

Postmaster General New has showed his interest in the exhibition by advancing the official sale of the new stamp commemorating the 150th anniversary of the battle of White Plains from October 28 to October 16, the opening day of the New York gathering. The only places in the United States where these stamps were sold that day were White Plains and the branch office of the Government Philatelic Agency in the Grand Central Palace. In addition to the sale of the stamps, special sheets of 25 surrounded by a specially designed border were printed in the exhibition

THE NEEDS OF AN APPETITE

The large colored man who entered the office of the vaudeville manager bore himself as one conscious of his talents.

"What can I do for you?" inquired the showman.

"You kin gimme a job."

"Oh, you're a performer then?"

"I suttingly is."

"And what is your particular specialty?"

"Boss, I'se the champeen aig-eater of the world.

"As how?"

"Well suh, at one time right befo' yore eyes I eats one dozen hen aigs, one dozen duck aigs an' one dozen turkey aigs, all of 'em raw."

The white man was by way of being somewhat of a practical joker.

"Well, that does sound like a novelty," he said with simulated enthusiasm. "I think I can use you on the bill at my theatre—if you can stand the strain."

"Strain is whut I stands the best."

"Listen here, then. On every week-day we give four performances—two matinees, two night shows."

"Suits me fine, boss."

"And on Saturdays and Sundays we give six shows instead of four. How about that?"

"Meks no diffe'nce to me, suh. You furnishes de aigs an' de audiences an' I do de rest."

"But on holidays we run a continuous performance from ten in the morning until eleven in the evening."

He paused for a reply. The applicant wriggled uneasily.

"Too big a contract for you to tackle, eh?"

"Naw suh, I wuzn' worryin' 'bout dat. But looky here, boss, on them thar holidays you'll have to gimme a lil' time off."

"What for?"

"So's I kin run home fur my reg'lar meals."

MISS DUNBAR IN STAR ROLE

Ever since the inception of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., the producers of the Richard Barthelmess features, surprising discoveries in screen talent and personalities have been made. The screen has been enriched by very considerable addition.

In "The Amateur Gentleman," the Richard Barthelmess feature, now at the American theatre, the public is introduced to Barthelmess' new leading lady, Dorothy Dunbar, who is six months rose from extra girl to the highly important role opposite him in this romantic film.

Thus Inspiration Pictures maintains its reputation for sponsoring "unknows" in their films. In "Tol'able David," the first of the Inpiration-Barthelmess features, Ernest Torrence and Warner Richmond got their big chance. Mary Astor was awarded her first big plum in "The Bright Shawl," Pauline Garon in "Sonny." Ronald Colman in "The White Sister." Charles Lane in "Romola" and Herbert Grimwood as Savonarola in "Romola."

"The Amateur Gentleman," the locale of which is laid in the England of 1817 and concerns the adventures of a youth who would be a "gentleman," contains a remarkable all-star cast in support of Richard Barthelmess.

The cast includes: Dorothy Dunbar, Gardner James, Herbert Grimwood, Brandon Hurst, Nigel Barrie, John Miljan, Gino Corrado, John S. Peter, Sidney de Gray, Billie Bennett, J. Edwards Davis and Jacques D'Auray.

"Feeling better every day since taking Foley Pills" (diuretic)

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" continually is a sign of something wrong. The chances are it's your kidneys!

For kidney trouble is real trouble and is the root of many serious disorders; dull headaches, backaches, weary tired feeling, rheumatic pains, nervousness, sleeplessness, irregular bladder action.

Foley Pills, diuretic, are a reliable, valuable medicine that promote sound health by stimulating the kidneys and bladder to a normal, healthy activity. In constant use over 25 years. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold everywhere. Ask for Foley Pills, diuretic.

hall, and sold at face value. The government's exhibition of stamps includes all of present issues and many of former years.

In all, the exhibits of United States collectors are said to be valued at more than $3,000,000, the exhibits from England at more than $1,000,000, and those from other countries at an additional two or three millions.

An interesting feature of the big stamp show is the department for junior collectors in which scores of boys and a few girls are exhibiting their treasures. Among the most celebrated of the foreign youths who are represented there is a lad who is the exiled heir to a throne. Should he ever come into his birthright he will be known as Otto II, of Hungary. Prince Otto is now living with his mother, Queen Zita, in Spain.

Stamp collecting, when it is carried to the point of trying to win trophies and medals in international exhibitions, is a hobby in which only rich men can indulge themselves, as the values that have been cited indicate. A game that is played with counters that cost $32,000 or $55,000 is no sport for a man who hasn't got a mint working overtime for him.

Actual Performance Is The Only True Test Of Radio Superiority

Claims of superiority — of supremacy — of achievement — are made every day — but claims cannot always be taken at their face value — You'll remember Dr. Frederick Cook, who claimed that he riscovered the North Pole—and—got by with it for awhile—only to be found a fraud in the end and with nothing to back up his previous claims.

That, however, is not our method of doing business. We are not satisfied with making claims of superiority for the Radios we feature—but instead—insist upon the demonstration of these superiorities by actual performance—a test which we believe to be the most practical—the most assuring and the most satisfactory.

WELLSVILLE TO O.K. LIGHT PACT

COUNCIL VOTES FOR ASHLEY TO SEEK CONTRACT

Authorizes Service Director to Negotiate 10-year Terms.

ONE BID FILED

Telephone Franchise Question Submitted to Atty. General.

City council last night authorized Service Director George Ashley to enter into a 10-year contract with the Ohio Power company for the city's supply of electric lights.

The ordinance carrying the authority to act was passed as an emergency measure by unanimous vote.

The city recently advertised for bids for its current supply and the Ohio Power company was the sole bidder.

A schedule of lights for the city which will be operated under the new contract, is being drawn up by council committees.

Clerk George Hardman notified solons that the city had communicated with the attorney general of Ohio as to what steps should be taken in order to compel the Ohio Bell Telephone company to obtain a new franchise for their service here. The company's last contract with the city expired in October, 1925.

In reply to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld's warning that the Carnegie library board is running short of funds and probably would be unable to finish the year under the $1,000 annual appropriation made by the city for library purposes, Mayor W. L. Fogo urged leniency and advised the auditor to assist the library in the situation by appropriating money from the safety fund to see the institution through to the first of the year.

"Don't be too close with them," the chief executive urged. "Give them some money out of the safety fund and I'll see that we get along."

Council was advised of the necessity of obtaining more money for a continuance of the "clean-up" work now under way under the direction of Service Director Ashley and Mayor Fogo in the west end of the city.

It is costing the city at the rate of approximately $75 daily, under ordinary conditions, to clean up after three of the worst rain storms in the history of the city, and, consequently, the $3,000 set aside by the solons some time ago for this purpose, is almost exhausted, according to Auditor Eckfeld.

Solons generally were in favor of getting more money to continue the work, but no definite action was taken. It is likely the matter will be considered at an adjourned meeting, which will be held Tuesday, October 26.

Auditor Eckfeld's report for last month shows the following balances: General fund, $1,186.27; safety fund, $2,789.18; health, $503.09; service, $2,335.70; water, $2,899.91; cemetery, $1,882.97; library, $367.27; gasoline tax, $6,219.44; special water, $29,954.62; auto license, $2,714.79; firemen's indemnity, $350.06; cemetery trust, $505.02; sinking fund depository, $65,226.54.

Solons Vote to Transfer $500 For Legal Costs In Fultz Court Fight

Resolution Fails as Emergency Measure When Connor and Swearingen Cast Dissenting Ballots; Passed on First Reading.

A resolution authorizing the transfer of $500 from the safety fund to the general fund, for the payment of costs in proceedings in error in the city's appeal from the finding of common pleas court in the removal case of Chief of Police John Fultz, was passed by council last night on first reading.

The resolution, brought up first as an emergency measure, failed to pass in this form as a result of dissenting votes by two members of council and was passed subsequently on first reading.

Councilmen W. C. Connor and Ted Swearingen voted against the measure and Solons Raymond McLean, Charles Peters, John Reil, Fred Heldman and William Nicholson cast affirmative ballots.

After failure of the emergency clause, the measure was re-introduced by Solons Peters and Reil and approved by a five to two vote on first reading.

HOPE TO ADJUST WATER PROBLEM

Arbitration Proceedings Temporarily Held Up.

Although negotiations in the arbitration proceedings between the city and Contractor A. W. Hinaman, who constructed the reservoir in Little Yellow Creek have been held up temporarily, City Solicitor S. C. Luccock holds out hope that the differences between the city and Hinaman will eventually be ironed out.

Further action in the controversy, Solicitor Luccock states, will not be taken until some time next month, at least until after the November election.

Claims and counter claims of the two sides probably will be grouped together when efforts at settlement are made.

No agreement has been reached on the third, or neutral arbitrator.

FOUR MONTH SCHOOL TERM IF LEVY FAILS

Possibility Pointed Out by Board of Education.

WANT FOUR MILLS

No Laws in Existence to Relieve Situation.

Operating at a deficit even in the face of a three-mill levy voted in 1923, Wellsville school district will be threatened with a four-month term, instead of the customary nine months if the proposed four-mill tax levy fails at the election on Tuesday, November 2, according to announcement today by the local board of education.

The board is asking for a renewal of the three-mill levy, which expired this year, and in addition, one mill to take care of the deficit.

During the past three years, the board points out, the total tax rate for school purposes in Wellsville district has been 11.77 mills. With the expiration of the three-mill levy, the rate has been reduced to 8.77 mills. On a valuation of $10,000,000, which is the approximate tax duplicate of the school district, the 8.77 mills will produce $87,700. This amount would be sufficient to run the public schools were it not for the bonded indebtedness and therein lies the difficulty.

The board of education sets aside annually a sufficient amount of the school revenues to pay off the bonds falling due and interest accruing on bonded indebtedness. Money thus set aside cannot be used for current expenses. During the past year the interest and sinking fund requirements were $34,000. For the school year of 1926-27, a greater number of bonds mature and these, with the interest, amount to $49,000. This obligation must be met before all others as required by law. If the four-mill levy fails the board of education will have only the difference between $87,700 and $49,000, or $38,700 with which to run the schools, an amount sufficient for four months only. No law exists for the relief of such an embarrassing situation.

With the adoption of the levy, the district will be able to retire all bonds as they fall due and maintain the schools for the full term.

Under this policy the bonded indebtedness will be reduced annually and a corresponding reduction will result in the tax rate.

Pointing out the board's position in the situation, officers assert: "The board of education executes the will of the people concerning their schools. Beyond certain limits defined by law they cannot go without the approval of the community they represent. They are the custodians of the school funds and are responsible for the manner in which these funds are used but they cannot create revenues for school purposes. The standards of the schools, as in most other things, will be determined largely by what the community is willing to pay for them."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Ever since the inception of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., the producers of the Richard Barthelmess features, surprising discoveries in screen talent and personalities have been made. The screen has been enriched by very considerable addition.

In "The Amateur Gentleman," the Richard Barthelmess feature, now at the American theatre, the public is introduced to Barthelmess' new leading lady, Dorothy Dunbar, who is six months rose from extra girl to the highly important role opposite him in this romantic film.

Thus Inspiration Pictures maintains its reputation for sponsoring "unknows" in their films. In "Tol'able David," the first of the Inpiration-Barthelmess features, Ernest Torrence and Warner Richmond got their big chance. Mary Astor was awarded her first big plum in "The Bright Shawl," Pauline Garon in "Sonny." Ronald Colman in "The White Sister." Charles Lane in "Romola" and Herbert Grimwood as Savonarola in "Romola."

"The Amateur Gentleman," the locale of which is laid in the England of 1817 and concerns the adventures of a youth who would be a "gentleman," contains a remarkable all-star cast in support of Richard Barthelmess.

hall, and sold at face value. The government's exhibition of stamps includes all of present issues and many of former years.

In all, the exhibits of United States collectors are said to be valued at more than $3,000,000, the exhibits from England at more than $1,000,000, and those from other countries at an additional two or three millions.

An interesting feature of the big stamp show is the department for junior collectors in which scores of boys and a few girls are exhibiting their treasures. Among the most celebrated of the foreign youths who are represented there is a lad who is the exiled heir to a throne. Should he ever come into his birthright he will be known as Otto II, of Hungary. Prince Otto is now living with his mother, Queen Zita, in Spain.

Stamp collecting, when it is carried to the point of trying to win trophies and medals in international exhibitions, is a hobby in which only rich men can indulge themselves, as the values that have been cited indicate. A game that is played with counters that cost $32,000 or $55,000 is no sport for a man who hasn't got a mint working overtime for him.

Actual Performance Is The Only True Test Of Radio Superiority

Claims of superiority — of supremacy — of achievement — are made every day — but claims cannot always be taken at their face value — You'll remember Dr. Frederick Cook, who claimed that he riscovered the North Pole—and—got by with it for awhile—only to be found a fraud in the end and with nothing to back up his previous claims.

That, however, is not our method of doing business. We are not satisfied with making claims of superiority for the Radios we feature—but instead—insist upon the demonstration of these superiorities by actual performance—a test which we believe to be the most practical—the most assuring and the most satisfactory.

twelve thousand million nerve cells. you wonder that we are not all of us mentally out of order all of the time.

A CAMPAIGN has been started under the direction of the very able Rev. Charles Stelzle "to sell religion to the people." This means an advertising campaign to arouse interest in religion.

It might be wise to hire a good astronomer. If the people could be persuaded to go out at night, stand alone and look up at the sky, religion would gain rapidly. That is how it started. Napoleon, standing at night on the deck of the ship carrying him to St. Helena, pointed to the stars and said: "You must admit that someone made all that."

NEW SERVICE STATION OPEN

Turk-Nash Company Acquires Rural Lane Location.

The Turk-Nash Sales company today opened a new service station in Rural Lane, off Dresden avenue, directly opposite the company's present display rooms.

The new station, 50x60 feet, is a modernly equipped automobile repair shop. Through the Reeke-Nash Motor company, Cleveland, Nash distributors for north and eastern Ohio, Mike Turk, manager of the local company, has engaged Ralph Brookes, as factory service manager. Six expert mechanics are employed in the shop.

With the opening of the new station the Turk-Nash Motor Sales company has discontinued the use of their Dresden avenue building for service work. Display rooms and the used car department will be maintained there.

Turk today extended an invitation to the public to visit the new service station.

Pledges Labor Protection

"Restoration of this levy is uncalled for," he declared. "It would place an added burden of $7,000,000 a year on the home and farm owners of the state and they already are too heavily burdened. We can get along in Ohio without increased taxation at this time if we inject some genuine business management into government."

Touching upon the bankrupted state treasury, Cooper laid full responsibility on the shoulders of Governor Donahey. He pointed out that the governor has direct control over the expenditure of 75 per cent of the state's money, or about 40 millions a year, and that it is up to that official to keep the state on an even financial keel.

Cooper charged "gross extravagance and waste" is everywhere apparent throughout the present administration, and pointed to huge purchases by the highway department to back up his assertions. He declared the state since Jan. 1 has bought 172 new high priced automobiles, although it already had more than enough for its needs and "more by 700 than any other state in the union."

Cites State Extravagance.

Ohio now owns 1864 autos, the speaker said, while New York, is next with 1254.

When the Donahey administration went in three and a half years ago, Cooper said 98 per cent of state-owned motor cars were touring cars, roadsters and other work types. Now, he declared, at least 75 per cent of them are limousines, sedans, coaches, coupes and "other pleasure models designed for pleasure driving and used for that much of the time by officials and favored employes."

The highway department, Cooper said, spent $2,000,000 last year for equipment—more than any other state—although a treasury deficit was in plain sight. "I mention these matters to illustrate how the taxpayers money is being thrown away at Columbus, he said.

Cooper arrived in East Liverpool shortly after 12 o'clock from Lisbon where he addressed a mass meeting in the court house at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

In addition to Cooper, who was accompanied by Mrs. Cooper, the party included Congressman Frank Murphy, Steubenville; Earl B. Lewis, St. Clairsville, candidate for the state senate; Ralph W. Emmons East Rochester and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, candidates for state representative; George Wright, candidate for sheriff; Elmer E. Walker, county auditor; J. Howard Sinclair candidate for county commissioner; Fred George, candidate for county treasurer; Paul H. Smith, candidate for county recorder; Robert N. Brookes, candidate for prosecuting attorney: Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and Attoney W. F. Lones, candidates for common pleas judge.

Immediately following his open air meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper together with Congressman Murphy, and County Auditor Elmer Walker took luncheon at Larkins' restaurant, Market street. Cooper then went to the Republican headquarters in East Fifth street where he conferred with party leaders.

Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon, the Republican standard bearer was taken to Wellsville where he was to address a meeting of voters in city hall.

Following the Wellsville meeting, Cooper and his party will be taken to Steubenville, where a Republican rally will be held tonight. Cooper will be driven to Steubenville by Sheriff George Wright. The trip from Lisbon to East Liverpool was made in an auto driven by Russell C. Heddleston.

Congressman Murphy discussed the importance of the tariff to the pottery industry and urged support of the Republican ticket in an address after Cooper had spoken.

CORDWIN NAMED CHAIRMAN OF TRAFFIC BOARD

George C. Thompson is Elected Vice Chairman.

DIEHL SECRETARY

Plan to Formulate "Sensible and Practicable" Regulations.

W. Harry Cordwin, general manager of the Frank Crook Furniture company, was elected chairman of the recently appointed city traffic commission at a meeting in the headquarters of the Columbiana County Motor club, Sixth street and Dresden avenue, yesterday afternoon.

George C. Thompson, of the C. C. Thompson Pottery company, was named vice president, while E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club, was chosen secretary. The other members of the commission are Norman McHenry, carpenter, and Frank Hull, pottery worker.

Members were sworn in by Mayor Ralph Benedum, who called the meeting. A general discussion of traffic conditions followed. A tentative program, presented by Secretary Diehl, was adopted providing for a thorough study of traffic needs. The Commission will formulate proposed regulations which are "sensible and practicable" and which conform with the state traffic code, arrange for the marking of streets, provide for street lighting and warning signals and sufficient traffic patrolman to reasonably enforce all such regulations.

The board also decided to go into the parking regulations more thoroughly. Streets where parking is banned or permitted for short periods, will be marked for the convenience of motorists. Cross-walks in the business district also will be marked.

Another meeting will be held in the motor club headquarters on Friday, October 29. Recommendations and suggestions from the public regarding traffic matters are invited by the board.

Defense Overruled

United States money, with the serial numbers enumerated on a separate sheet of paper. This money was marked as the state's exhibit.

It was testified that after the Burns' men entered the room that Carbicella said that the "money was to apply on his liquor fine at Salem."

"When the men first talked to me on Monday night, Sept. 13, I told them that they couldn't hand me any money," Sheriff Wright testified under cross-examination by Defense Attorney Ben L. Bennett of East Liverpool. "Scaccuto told me that he had worked for Carbicella as a clerk, and that he had also sold liquor for him," Sheriff Wright said.

To a question suggested by Bennett to Sheriff Wright, Judge W. H. Spence said:

"The witness will not be permitted to testify as to any conversation relative to the murder case, neither will any examination be permitted relative to the murder case."

Sheriff Wright then told of the first call of Carbicella and Fusco at the county jail, and also their visit on Thursday, Sept. 16.

W. J. Courtney Testifies.

W. J. Courtney, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh office of the Burns agency, under direct examination by Prosecutor Brookes, testified that he was in conference at the county jail with Sheriff Wright when the two men first called there, and that Sheriff Wright told them to come back again. When the two men returned, Courtney, who was still in conference with him, retired into the living room where Ciotola and Ester were listening on a radio. It was testified that after Carbicella and Fusco seated themselves in the office of the jail, Sheriff Wright went into the parlor and shut off the radio.

"When the men were leaving the office, I heard Sheriff Wright say to Carbicella and Fusco, 'No, No! nothing like that,' Courtney testified.

"When the men called at the jail Thursday afternoon, and we walked from the living room into the jail office, I said to Rocco, 'you walked right into it,' and he said, 'yes.'"

Courtney testified that his presence at the county jail and his conference with Sheriff Wright were upon investigation foreign to the case now on trial.

LABOR ENDORSES CITY BOND PLAN

Endorsement of the proposed $225,000 municipal building bond issue, with the recommendation that the structure be erected on the Taylor lot, West Sixth street, was voted by members of Local Union No. 124 at a meeting in Trades and Labor council hall last night. The action was taken after the proposition had been explained by President of Council N. P. Kerr and Councilmen Poole and Hughes.

The city hall proposition was also discussed by Mayor Benedum and Councilman Thomas Farrall at a meeting in the Second Baptist church last night. They also spoke at a mass meeting held in the Garfield school. Superintendent C. S. McVay and D. F. White, president of the board of education, were the principal speakers in behalf of the school levy.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—With the exception of a few of the railroad stocks, utilities and specialties, further losses were sustained by the active speculative stocks at the beginning of trading today, and the downward movement promptly resumed.

The over-night accumulation of selling orders was not very heavy, but traces of confusion over the European trade manifesto were still in evidence in the Wall street district, and the professionals were in no hurry to cover their short lines. An extremely favorable weekly freight traffic report was ignored, while emphasis was placed on the Petroleum Institute's estimate of record-breaking crude oil production and the almost certainty of a cut in crude oil prices. Call money renewed at 4 1-2 per cent.

All You Expect

To become a Lucky Strike smoker makes one more critical of cigarettes.

Usual standards no longer appeal. For in Lucky Strikes you get the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended—and something more.

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market.

But in Luckies you enjoy the results of an added process of toasting.

This gives Luckies their distinct superiority.

In Lucky Strikes you find:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

Thus the toasting process is an addition. It adds a unique and distinct improvement to a cigarette that has already been made from the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. It is the reason millions prefer Lucky Strikes.

"It's toasted"

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

STUDY SIBERIA IN PROGRAM OF DEVELOPMENT

Area Twice Size of United States Offers Exploitation Chance.

GROUND FROZEN

Western Part Immense Nation of Fertile Land.

WASHINGTON.—Western Siberia is one of the greatest areas of level, fertile farm land, awaiting development in all the temperate, cereal-producing regions, according to a survey of the commercial possibilities of this vast country prepared by the department of commerce.

Eastern and south-eastern Siberia is a great forest region, immensely rich in minerals and already famed for its fisheries and furs.

The climate of these regions is not dissimilar to that of the Dakotas and Minnesota—with hardly lower temperatures it is drier, with many hours of sunshine per year, modifying the effect of the more northern latitude.

All of Siberia, however, is by no means either fertile or salubrous, according to the report. The northern part, bordering the Arctic ocean is a vast plain across which it is possible to look for miles and miles over growth of tiny trees. The ground is frozen deep down, the year around, only the surface thawing out during the warm season.

5,000,000 Square Miles.

"It is estimated that of Siberia's total area of 5,000,000 square miles—nearly twice that of United States—about one-quarter is actually adaptable to human exploitation, aside from perhaps the fishing and fur industries," the report set forth.

Siberia is among the world's largest areas awaiting development.

The gigantic distances in Siberia—5,000 miles from west to east and 2,300 miles from north to south—places the transportation questions and freight cost as the paramount consideration in any development plan.

"This unfavorable factor—distance—is accentuated, moreover by Siberia's geographical location, far remote from the most important world commercial centers and nearly isolated from world-trade routes,' the report continued.

"Arctic ice blocks the way from the north and northeast; roadless mountains close it in on the southeast and west; while to the south scantily populated steppes and deserts hinder communication.

The main artery of human activity in Siberia is the Trans-Siberian railroad, traversing its entire width from the Urals to the Pacific ocean. Rail transportation charges, however, are prohibitive in many lines of goods on long hauls."

Commerce department experts say that the water transportation facilities of Siberia assume special significance. An all-water route would insure to Siberia low freight costs between the world markets and any inland point and would be a factor of utmost importance in its commercial development.

Four Great Rivers.

The country contains four mighty rivers—the Ob, the Yenisei, the Lena and the Amur, and these with their tributaries from a network of waterways covering the entire length and breadth of the land.

It has been estimated, experts said, that with comparatively small outlay these waterways can be linked into one great all-Siberian water course, with outlets to the Pacific and Arctic oceans.

"To most people Siberia is a cold, bleak, forbidding region in which it is impossible to live with any degree of comfort," the report said.

"That idea is derived from the narratives of explorers, fur traders, and persons imprisoned or exiled in Siberia who have emphasized the severities of the climate in a region where there are few conveniences of civilization.

"A similar idea prevailed for many years with regard to western Canada. Literature as recent as within the last 40 or 50 years speaks of what has now become the most productive wheat region of the Canadian northwest as a "cold, bleak and inhospital section."

BOOK FOUR—VIII.

"I can't understand," she observed, as Jock sat scowlingly silent, "why you aren't more enthusiastic. Dearest boy, don't you see wnat fun it would be? We go somewhere to dance almost every night anyway—why not get paid for doing it, while we're about it? Wouldn't you like that better than sitting poked off in some stupid office somewhere? Just for a while. Just till we're married—naturally I wouldn't want you to be a cabaret entertainer all your life, with the brains you've got and the education you've had—"

"It's not me I'm worrying about!" spoke up Jock with more earnestness than attention to grammar. "I wouldn't mind it. In fact I think it would be great stuff, for a few weeks—snappy way to put in the time while I'm making up my mind what I want to do with myself. But you, Yvonne—I don't care what you say, there's no reason on God's earth why you—"

Yvonne interrupted this speech with a long kiss full on the lips. "That's my way of saying 'shut up, Jock Hamill,'" she explained sweetly.

"It's a great way! I could use a lot of those. But listen, about this Terrace Tavern business—"

She kissed him again.

After which he continued to say "But listen—" at two-minutes intervals all the rest of the afternoon. Not protestingly; gleefully, for the kiss each repetition earned him. And protest, thus neglected in the heyday of more palatable matters, withered and died away.

Often in the days that followed he wondered what had become of it. He had not intended to give in so easily; he hadn't intended to give in at all! But Yvonne now obviously considered the thing decided, and was going ahead with preparations in a manner so final that the time for discussion seemed past and irrevocable. And Jock, after his preliminary puny splashing, swam with the stream.

"Can't do anything now," he assured himself comfortably. "Too late now. We're all set."

And they were. After arduous hours of practice, they had "tried out" before August Schultz and been accepted as a team. Impassively. Everything August Schultz did he did impassively, with an air of scarcely knowing and not one iota caring whether or not the thing was done. He was a porcine gentleman with a vague chin or chins, a motley assortment of teeth, some gold, some bad, some false, some missing, and little half-shut slits of eyes, like buttonholes embroidered deep in the pasty cushion of his face. After hearkening to two selections by Jock, he had said "You're hired" in such a drear, dead voice that Jock had been compelled to whisper to Yvonne, "Hired or fired?" before he could be sure how to answer. From the very beginning, August Schultz delighted him. He always referred to him as "my Boss" with becoming, if synthetic, reverence, and was found of giving squinty impersonations of him for the benefit of all and sundry. Also he made him the unwitting hero of several hilarious rhymes, noteworthy among them one beginning: "I prithee, August Schultz, reveal to me, Who in the hell doth do thy dentistry?" . . .

He had rather expected that his mother would prove difficult to handle in this contretemps, but, as he afterward informed Yvonne, "You can't jar that lady!" Mrs. Hamill gave vent to a few calm whys and wherefores, characterized the whole affair as "simply mad," and washed her hands of it. To Saunders Lincoln only did she confide her true attitude.

"There wasn't any use making a fuss," she said. "Though goodness knows I wanted to! Just imagine Jock, of all boys in the world, contenting himself with playing the banjo in a cheap wayside dance hall! I don't know what's come over him. Yes, I do too, it's that Yvonne, she has him wrapped around her little finger. He's so dazzled, he can't see beyond his own nose. If I were not so sure this was just a phase—but it is a phase. It's got to be!"

"What's Yvonne like?" Saunders Lincoln queried.

"Beautiful as a dream, wise as all the ages, shallow, superficial, rather notoriously immoral — I've had her looked up, of course—and at least six years older than Jock," said Mrs. Hamill all in a breath. "And, strange to say, really in love with him, unless my intuition deceives me as it never did before. Why she doesn't marry him is quite beyond me, for she could have him tomorrow if she whistled. He says she's trying to make him wait a year. I hope she succeeds! She won't be able to get him so easily, in a year, if she did but realize! She'd destroy him in time, you know, Saunders. In the worst way. Not by a single blow—he'd recover from that—but by a slow insidious poison."

"Did you tell Jock all this?"

Mrs. Hamill glared irritably. "My dear Saunders, don't be such a ninny! Do you think I'd help this affair along by opposing it? Indeed I did not tell him, nor shall I unless worst comes to worst. I shall sit tight, and let the thing work itself out. And continue to pretend I'm delighted with Yvonne, so that in the event they decide to get married I'll know about it in time to get busy."

"Perhaps—" began Lincoln speculatively.

Mrs. Hamill caught his meaning. "I hope so!" she nodded. "I sincerely hope so. That would solve the problem quicker than anything else." . . .

IX.

Terrace Tavern is built a cautious little off the beaten track. But travelers of the beaten track, though they do not actually pass its door, are assured that it lies somewhere in the vicinity by a series of signboards pricked out with red electric bulbs. These read variously, becoming more garrulous as the distance becomes less. "Five Miles to Terrace Tavern." "Four Miles to Terrace Tavern—August Schultz, Prop." "Only Two Miles to Terrace Tavern — Chicken, Steak and Lobster Dinners." "One Mile More to Terrace Tavern—Dancing Every Evening Six to Two—Happy Hatton's Celebrated Syncopated Seven." A speedometer mile-and-three-quarters beyond this last there is a giant crimson arrow pointing into a thicket and the terse injunction, "TURN HERE FOR TERRACE TAVERN," in letters a foot high.

At night, the injunction is continually obeyed. Car after car leaves the highway and twists along a serpentine size-road, until its headlights are one with the light that blazes like noon in the clearing at the end. August Schultz has ever been a firm believer in electricity for outdoor use. It allures, it looks hospitable and happy, and as an aid to motorists somewhat inebriated it is invaluable. For indoor use, of course, he doesn't think so much of it.

Terrace Tavern is long and low and sprawling, made of stuco. It has a red tile roof, innumerable windows bonneted with red-and-white striped awnings, and below the window, boxes, in which things assorted grow. A liveried negro with a flashing white grin holds the door wide open for you to enter, then lets it whisk to behind you so abruptly that you feel as though you had been swept in by a broom. On the wings of this headstart you hasten down a long tunnel of hall paved with red carpet, and bring up against a triple barrier of tall painted screen, velvet rope, and dinner-coated functionary who eyes you phlegmatically. From behind the screen, sounds issue . . . the whamwham of jazz, or the combined roar of speech and laughter and forks on china . . . orchestra and guests in alternate hubbub. The dinner-coated functionary has to incline his ear to your lips to hear you say, "A table near the floor if you have it," and you have to incline yours to his to hear him reply that he hasn't it but that he'll give you something in a corner.

take S.S.S. and be PROUD of a CLEAR SKIN

DOES YOUR MIRROR reveal a soft, clear, ruddy skin, free from imperfections, that is such a joy to every woman? Or are you embarrassed with blemishes, pimples, little eruptions, acne, blackheads and other unsightly and disfiguring handicaps?

Your skin is in reality your passport, and if your mirror reveals a blemished, unsightly complexion, it is time to begin at once to correct this annoying condition. When the blood becomes infected with humors or impurities, the circulation cannot supply rich nutrition to the skin, but instead it deposits the acrid impurities with which it is contaminated into the sensitive fibres and tissues. This causes irritation or inflammation which splits or breaks the outer cuticle, while the tissues beneath ulcerate, become inflamed, break out into pimples, and cause other unsightly irritations.

Just as Long as the Blood Remains Pure, the Skin Will be Free From Eruptions

But when the blood becomes affected with humors, its nourishing and healthful properties are lost and its humor-laden condition causes inflammation of the delicate tissues and fibres of the pores and glands. You have but to realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of all skin disorders is in the blood. Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and therefore cannot be reached by a treatment that is strictly local, but is deep down in the blood supply.

S. S. S. Has a Proved Record of Over 100 Years as the World's Best Blood Medicine

Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it clears the system and makes those so-called skin disorders impossible to exist. S. S. S. contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. It is also a remarkable builder of firm flesh which is also important to beauty. It will fill out your hollow cheeks, put the "ruby" of health in your cheeks and the sparkle in your eyes. Since 1926, S. S. S. has been beautifying complexions and giving women physical charm. That is why S. S. S. is accepted as the greatest of all blood accepted cleansers and body builders. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The larger size bottle is more economical. Start taking S. S. S. today. Its marvelous results will amaze you!

Use of Five Possible All-American Stars Productive of Punch

Makes Expeditious Use of Hidden Ball Attack Wondrously Timed and Executed and Has the Men to Make it Effective, Murphy, Sophomore Quarterback, is Key-man of Play.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The eye may be quicker than the hand but you can prove it neither by the come-on who tried to beat the shell game at the county fair nor the football teams that have tried to beat Pennsylvania this season. Four of them, Franklin and Marshall, Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore and Chicago, have given the matter their attention and some of the boys haven't seen the ball yet.

Pennsylvania is making expeditious use of a hidden ball attack, so wonderously timed and executed as to suggest parlor magic. Alonzo Stagg seemed to think it was the greatest yet but, as to that, I don't think the team yet lives that can take the play away from that old Harvard slight-of-hand business that Haughton once used.

It is the type of attack that needs the men to make it really useful and Pennsylvania has them in plenty. In fact, the team is nursing five all American possibilities in George Thayer, end; Jack Butler, center; Charley Rogers and Al Wascolonis, backs, and Paul Murphy, quarterback.

Murphy is Key-Man.

The latter is the key-man in the attack, the boy who makes the motions that send defensive linemen chasing devotedly after the man who hasn't the ball. Paul is only a sophomore but he looks the part of a fine all around football player.

He's a quarterback of the old school, the kind that kicks, runs and passes in addition to calling the plays. He does everything well and, in spite of the fact that the veteran, Laird, is ready as an understudy, I think it would go very hard with Pennsylvania if it lost Murphy, even for a half game.

Rogers, however, is another ideal triple threat and probably the greatest ball runner in the squad, if not in the east. Wascolonis and Clarence Fields are the line crackers and every man in the backfield can be turned loose to receive passes but the bellwether at this game is Captain Thayer at end. He may be the best of a lot of good wings that we have in the east this season.

Paul Scull is another good ball runner, just good enough in all departments to keep men like Fields and Jesse Douglas, veterans of several years, standing, out of the starting line. Douglas, in fact, is out pretty much altogether.

For Pennsylvania is almost affluent in material. Thayer and Don Singer are hang-over ends from last year. So is F. Scull, their immediate understudy. The same goes for the tackles, Ed Hake, Bob Pike and Ed Fonde and one of the guards, Dick Snyder. Butler was shifted from guard to center between seasons, leaving only Sam Parke and Stewart Brydon as forwards of no great previous experience.

Possesses the Punch.

With its surplus of veteran class, it is difficult to see how Pennsylvania can go wrong. But it can. I didn't like its seven man line with the old style box defense against Chicago and I would say that a better passing team might have given the Penn defense plenty to do. It may find, too, that it is playing its tackles and ends a trifle too close in when it meets Illinois next week. Grange never would have run as wild as he did last year if Pennsylvania forwards had followed a less conservative style of play.

However, there is no mistaking the facts that Pennsylvania has the punch. Its fine set of backs operate behind a line which seems to be at its best as an attacking unit. It showed something of the savor of genius in opening holes against Chicago. Even the fact that the latter's forwards were none too good can't dim the lustre of the performance. It was very evident that the Penn linemen know entirely too much offensive football to go very far wrong against the worthiest of opposition.

The attack, therefore, comes by its effectiveness honestly. It isn't one of those point-a-minute machines but it has averaged 38 points through four games and that is better than any Pennsylvania team has done during modern times. It really deserves its ranking of the moment with the best in the east.

EX-BUC BEGAN CAREER IN P. O. M.

McKechnie's Career Full of Interesting Twists.

Few baseball men have had a baseball career with as many varying and interesting twists as that of Bill McKechnie, who has just been relieved of the Pirate management. Universally liked by hundreds of diamond performers with whom he has been thrown in contact in an unusually large number of leagues, McKechnie was always noted for his clean habits and conscientious efforts. Bill was never what is classified as a good hitter, but his defensive play sparkled from the time he first started to attract notice on the sandlots.

McKechnie made his first real bid for fame when he played for Washington, Pa., in the P. O. M. League. That was about 20 years ago. From the P. O. M. circuit he moved to the O. and P. league and later he starred in the infield for the Wheeling team of the Central League.

In his P. O. M. and O. and P. days McKechnie acquired a large number of friends in the East Liverpool district. He performed frequently at West End park, now known as Patterson Field, as a member of the Washington club and later, when C. A. Smith took over the East Liverpool team, McKechnie joined the Ceramic City organization as an infielder. From here he went to Wheeling.

The Pirates landed McKechnie in 1910. From that time until 1916, Bill did service with two other major league teams—the Braves and the Yankees.

When the Federal League swung into action in 1915, McKechnie was placed in charge of the Newark club. As pilot of this "outlaw" aggregation, Bill helped to develop Eddie Roush, who was destined to become one of the biggest stars in the National League.

Peace being signed between the majors and the Federals at the conclusion of the 1915 season, McKechnie, under the terms of the pact, was assigned to the Giants. Bill played part of one season for McGraw and then was traded, along with Christy Mathewson, to Cincinnati for Buck Herzog. Matty was wanted as pilot for the Reds and he was placed in charge of the Cincinnati club, he holding this position until he went into the army.

From Cincinnati, McKechnie eventually went to the American Association. Playing third base for Joe Cantillon at Minneapolis, Mac's work was so good that the Pirates purchased his release. Bill performed in the Pirate infield under Hugo Bezdek. When George Gibson took over the managerial reins, he made McKechnie his coach and assistant.

Gibson resigned dramatically in the middle of the 1922 season. Owner Dreyfuss immediately put McKechnie at the head of the club and Bill held the position right up to the present time.

Probe Ordered in Fight Club Riot

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—An investigation of the riot at the Pioneer athletic club last night in which a mob of fight fans attacked Referee Jimmy Crowley, was ordered today by the New York boxing commission.

The mob scene occurred after Crowley had disqualified Lew Hurley on a foul in the third round of his bout with Sammy Dorfman.

Crowley was struck on the head by a chair hurled by one of the mob and a slight scalp wound inflicted. Police, with their nightsticks, soon quelled the riot.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

You will note that when you hit from the inside out with the mashie making the blade appear to cut across the ball as you take it, the divot you cut will be straight with the line of direction, as it should be. (Fig. 2). When you try to hit into the ball and straight through it your divot will be cut diagonally across the flight line toward the left (Fig. 1). This should be sufficient proof that you are turning in and cutting across the ball to the left. However, if you note that your divots cut slightly across the flight line yet the ball goes satisfactorily it will be as well to keep on playing your mashie shots as you are, for your swing will give the ball a natural "cut" that will hold it on the green. However, always play some to the left of the pin and figure the ball to roll toward the pin after it lands.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THE signing of Dan Howley, he of the big smile, to manage the Boston Red Sox next season, startled some close followers of baseball due to the fact that Howley, as manager of the Toronto club, and closely allied with the Detroit Tigers through a working agreement between the clubs, seemed the logical man to succeed Ty Cobb as pilot in Detroit town.

This on the assumption that Cobb is destined to step out as pilot of the Jungaleers.

However, Howley will labor under much more advantageous conditions at Boston than he would have at Detroit had he been offered and accepted that job. This for the reason that because of his working relations with Cobb of recent years some of the hangers might have suspected in his selection some "boring from within." Howley is not that kind of a bird. Also, he and Cobb have a mutual respect for one another that would forestall any such actions.

At Boston, Howley—if given free rein—will get order out of chaos in a hurry. He may not know ball players any better than Lee Fohl, the retiring pilot, but he acts much quicker on his judgment. He carries only men he believes will deliver in a reasonable time and become reliable ball players. If a player gives indications of being a "flashy" star but not a consistent, dependable performer, Howley gets rid of him. Howley has shown his ability to choose players in developing the Toronto team in a pennant-winning aggregation. For two or three years before he landed the International league pennant this season Howley was the only man to give Jack Dunn and his Baltimore Orioles a run for the flag held by Dunn for six or seven years.

Howley showed the major league moguls, through the players he sent to Detroit, that he could develop youngster in jig time and make big league timber out of them. Young Gehringer, Tiger infielder, is one of Howley's pupils. Owen Carroll, college pitching star, will be ready next spring to show the majors how Howley can train pitchers.

Boston has made a wise selection. It is due Howley, however, that he be given a real chance by turning over to him complete authority in acquiring and disposing of players.

Speaking of managers, the report that Uncle Wilbert Robinson may have to fight for his job as president-manager of the Dodgers this winter is interesting—doubly so in view of the fact that Robbie figuratively ran the whole works last season.

Just who the stockholders of the Brooklyn club could find at this time to carry on the "general utility" role played by Robbie is a mystery to me.

The annual winter report that Eddie Roush, star center fielder of the Reds, is to be traded next spring is with us. This time, however, there is a bit of strength lent to the report by the fact that Red players and fans have been peeved at Roush ever since his poor playing in a double-header against the Boston Braves late in the season. The Braves socked the Reds twice in one afternoon and Roush's poor playing helped in the rout. The two blows in the same place virtually killed the chances of the Reds to land the flag.

If Roush is unpopular with the Red fans he probably will get a change of scenery this time. It is well known Hendricks would like a star infielder or a pitcher or two to strengthen his team.

CHICAGO HEAVY SCRAP IS DRAW

Delaney and Wiggins Please Fans in 10-round Battle.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Jimmy Delaney, of St. Paul, and Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, may not be the world's greatest heavyweights, but 5,000 Chicago fight fans were willing to testify today that the Delaney-Wiggins affair at the Coliseum last night was the best seen in Illinois since the rebirth of legalized boxing.

Throughout ten sensational rounds these fellows fought with everything they had. The referee called it a draw. It couldn't have been anything else. Both fighters were cheered to the echo as they left the ring.

They fought like demons, and with the speed of lightweights. There was not a dull moment during the entire bout. After going down for a count of nine in the eight round, Delaney came back strong in the final rounds and carried the fight to Wiggins. Both men left the ring with blood-smeared faces and apparently exhausted.

They fought the windup event in a show that was touted as the "battle of the heavyweights." There were five bouts between big fellows on the card. All of them pleased the fans.

New York to Watch Army-Navy Elevens In Next Year's Game

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 20.—New York has drawn the Army-Navy football game for 1927, while the 1928 contest will be played in Philadelphia, naval academy authorities announced today.

The athletic authorities of the two service schools also announced they had signed a four-year agreement for the games, carrying with it West Point's adoption of the one-year rule, which means that cadets will not be eligible to participate in varsity athletics until after one year of academic work. This rule has been in effect at Annapolis for more than three years.

The agreement will become effective July 1 next, and extends until July 1, 1930.

ACADEMY ELEVEN WANTS CONTESTS

The Academy Billiard football team is in the field for games with elevens in the 145 to 150-pound class.

For games call the Academy parlors and ask for William Plant.

Abandon Long Passes.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 20.—The Dartmouth coaches have abandoned the long and involved forward passes which for years have featured the team's attack. The eleven was to concentrate today on developing a system of short passes for the Harvard game Saturday.

Use Dartmouth Plays.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20.—Following a rather mediocre showing yesterday, the Harvard varsity today will be put through another scrimmage with a team of ineligibles using Dartmouth formations.

High Gridders Leave Local Lot Saturday For First Road Tilt

Will Clash With Strong Toronto Eleven; Blue and White Coaches to Continue Development of Forward Passes.

WITH the squad in fairly good condition, despite a gruelling battle Saturday with the Brown and White of East Palestine, Coach George Kidder and his charges Saturday will leave the home gridiron and friendly atmosphere of Columbian park for the first time this season, ready to tackle Toronto high in the initial road game of the campaign.

The power of the Blue and White forward line remained inflexible in the East Palestine setto with the sole exception of holes that appeared at times at center. In Lemly, left guard, and Gorby, center, the visitors displayed a couple of linemen that need not doff their lids to any that have appeared against the locals this season and the fact that they broke through occasionally is no disgrace to the East Liverpool forwards. This pair displayed more defensive strength than any other two or three linemen, on either the Sebring or the Akron East combines.

Captain Dick Larkins, who has been idle since the Akron combat, as a result of an injured shoulder was anxious to get back into action against East Palestine Saturday but Coach Kidder would not permit it, fearing a recurrence of the injury. Whether Larkins will be needed in the Toronto contest is problematical.

The Jefferson countians will be no set-up. That much appears to be certain after their great fight against Follansbee Saturday in which they held the West Virginians, who had previously triumphed over Chester, to a scoreless tie.

The local coaches doubtlessly will polish up the forward passing attack that the Blue and White revealed Saturday, seeing in it the possibility of developing a powerful method of ground gaining and a punch that may help to win games in the future.

Scrimmage for State.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—Another hard scrimmage session was on tap this afternoon for Ohio State's gridders who hook up with Iowa at the stadium here next Saturday. Coach Wilce is paying particular attention to developing his offense.

Wills is Suspended By Commisison for Sharkey Bout Fouls

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Harry Wills, recently defeated contender for the world's heavyweight championship, and Jack Sharkey, who defeated Wills and moved into his position as runner-up in the ranks of the big fellows, have run afoul of the New York boxing commission's displeasure.

Wills was suspended for thirty days for using foul tactics in his fight with Sharkey, and the latter, by failing to appear before the commission yesterday to post a $2,500 forfeit of good faith in his challenge to Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, slipped a rung in the good graces of his one-time fast friends, the commissioners.

Sharkey had issued his challenge via long distance telephone from Boston, but neglected to send on the money order for deposit. Neither did his manager, Johnnie Buckley, put in an appearance.

Mother Gives Son and Wife Gives Hubby To Ohio Conference Football

Pleadings of Pair of Stars Finally Prevail and They'll be Back in Lineup Saturday.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 20.—A mother's and a wife's consent will be two chief factors in this week's feature Ohio conference football game when Western Reserve meets Wooster Saturday. It is a mother's consent that gives Reserve a new quarterback, a man who can pass, kick and run with the ball. It is a wife's consent that keeps one of the most consistent ground gainers of Ohio's collegiate gridders in the Reserve lineup.

Harold Fellinger, who was considered as the Cleveland team's best bet at the start of the season may call signals against Wooster Saturday. Because Harold is an only son of a widow mother he was forced to quit football after the second day of practice. An injury to Harold would mean a catastrophe to the closest human to his mother's heart. But after much pleading and the passing of three games, in which Reserve won two and lost one, she has given way to her son's never ending pleadings.

Fritz Phypers, Reserve fullback, was on trial in the game against Oberlin last week. After the tilts in which Western Reserve trounced Hiram and Baldwin-Wallace, Fritz sustained an injured knee. His bride of only a month and a half was against her youthful collegiate hubby playing football and getting hurt. She promised to put him on probation in the game with Oberlin. Fritz gained more than 200 yards all by himself in the Oberlin tilt. And now, well, his bride just can't keep him out of the game.

This business of consents seems to be an epidemic among Cleveland colleges. A professor's consent gives Case a new fullback. He is Bill Hess, who played on the Case freshman team back in 1922 and on the same team with Benny Friedman, Michigan's All American quarterback, in his high school days. This week Hess was declared eligible for play after staying away from academic life for two years. In his sophomore year he went to Minnesota and played on the frosh eleven there.

Case meets Denison here Saturday in Cleveland's only college game of the day. John Carroll goes to Detroit where it meets Detroit University Saturday afternoon.

MORGAN HOOTED IN COAST FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—This city had it's first championship boxing match in 14 years last night and today a bad taste was cleaving to the roof of the mouths of some 15,000 spectators who saw Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion of the world, successfully defend his title against the ancient Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion.

Morgan won every round from the Italian fighter but collected nothing but hoots, with the exception of the cash, of course, for his efforts.

STUDY SIBERIA IN PROGRAM OF DEVELOPMENT

Area Twice Size of United States Offers Exploitation Chance.

GROUND FROZEN

Western Part Immense Nation of Fertile Land.

WASHINGTON.—Western Siberia is one of the greatest areas of level, fertile farm land, awaiting development in all the temperate, cereal-producing regions, according to a survey of the commercial possibilities of this vast country prepared by the department of commerce.

Eastern and south-eastern Siberia is a great forest region, immensely rich in minerals and already famed for its fisheries and furs.

The climate of these regions is not dissimilar to that of the Dakotas and Minnesota—with hardly lower temperatures it is drier, with many hours of sunshine per year, modifying the effect of the more northern latitude.

All of Siberia, however, is by no means either fertile or salubrous, according to the report. The northern part, bordering the Arctic ocean is a vast plain across which it is possible to look for miles and miles over growth of tiny trees. The ground is frozen deep down, the year around, only the surface thawing out during the warm season.

5,000,000 Square Miles.

"It is estimated that of Siberia's total area of 5,000,000 square miles—nearly twice that of United States—about one-quarter is actually adaptable to human exploitation, aside from perhaps the fishing and fur industries," the report set forth.

Siberia is among the world's largest areas awaiting development.

The gigantic distances in Siberia—5,000 miles from west to east and 2,300 miles from north to south—places the transportation questions and freight cost as the paramount consideration in any development plan.

"This unfavorable factor—distance—is accentuated, moreover by Siberia's geographical location, far remote from the most important world commercial centers and nearly isolated from world-trade routes,' the report continued.

"Arctic ice blocks the way from the north and northeast; roadless mountains close it in on the southeast and west; while to the south scantily populated steppes and deserts hinder communication.

The main artery of human activity in Siberia is the Trans-Siberian railroad, traversing its entire width from the Urals to the Pacific ocean. Rail transportation charges, however, are prohibitive in many lines of goods on long hauls."

Commerce department experts say that the water transportation facilities of Siberia assume special significance. An all-water route would insure to Siberia low freight costs between the world markets and any inland point and would be a factor of utmost importance in its commercial development.

Four Great Rivers.

The country contains four mighty rivers—the Ob, the Uenisei, the Lena and the Amur, and these with their tributaries from a network of waterways covering the entire length and breadth of the land.

It has been estimated, experts said, that with comparatively small outlay these waterways can be linked into one great all-Siberian water course, with outlets to the Pacific and Arctic oceans.

"To most people Siberia is a cold, bleak, forbidding region in which it is impossible to live with any degree of comfort," the report said.

"That idea is derived from the narratives of explorers, fur traders, and persons imprisoned or exiled in Siberia who have emphasized the severities of the climate in a region where there are few conveniences of civilization.

"A similar idea prevailed for many years with regard to western Canada. Literature as recent as within the last 40 or 50 years speaks of what has now become the most productive wheat region of the Canadian northwest as a "cold, bleak and inhospital section."

THE Queen of Rumania, interesting lady worthy of hospitality is here, and on the front page. The widow of a president of the United States comes on the same boat, and she is not on the front page.

This is an 18-karat democracy, but we are still a little more interested in queens than in ordinary people.

THIS country will learn after awhile that a highway with heavy automobile traveling 50 miles an hour with no rails to keep them in place is as dangerous as any railroad with its express trains.

In a head-on collision last Sunday one man turned suddenly from behind a truck, put on the brakes and skidded into a car coming from the opposite direction. Four were killed and all the 14 occupants of two cars hurt.

Speed should be limited strictly on the public highways, if necessary, by a mechanical appliance on every car. And reckless driving resulting in death should be punished as manslaughter.

LORRIN A. THURSTON, editor of the Honolulu Advertiser, is here, and can tell you about our Hawaiian islands things more interesting than the Queen of Rumania will have to tell you.

For instance, Hawaii is the only supply station for ships and flying machines in a Pacific ocean territory bounded east and west by Hong-Kong and Panama, north and south by Unalaska and Tahiti.

TAKE a piece of the globe as big as that and move it eastward. You will find that it would reach from San Francisco across the United States and across the Atlantic ocean, across Europe, across Turkey in Asia and into the middle of Persia.

North and south it would reach from south Greenland to Rio Janeiro.

Our Hawaiian islands, the center and controlling point of such a vast place, are worth attention.

INCIDENTALLY, these islands produce one hundred million dollars' worth of sugar every year, thirty million dollars' worth of pineapples, and they have only begun their productivity. One concern has recently purchased an island to plant 5,000 more acres of pineapples.

And at Honolulu the biggest fruit canning plant in the world doubles its size this year to take care of the increasing crop.

AN ENGLISH girl has been in a trance for 12 months, and from every direction come sincere efforts to help her. Faith cures of a dozen minds, spiritualtists, herbalists. A Japanese wrestler believes that physical treatment would relieve her and a good Christian sends a bottle of holy water from the miraculous spring of Lourdes.

TO THE material eye the case is that of an electric bell that will not ring. The wires are out of order or the battery is weak. When you consider that there are in the brains of that girl, as is every human brain,

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR SPEAKS AT OPEN AIR MEETING

Cincinnati Home Builder Tells East Liverpool Potters That He Has Employed Union Workers for 25 Years.

PEACE MARKED RELATIONSHIP

Candidate, Winding Up Tour of Columbiana County, Stresses Need of Business Methods in Government.

A pledge for the protection of union labor was made by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican candidate for governor, in an address before approximately 300 persons at an open air meeting in the Diamond at noon today.

The Republican standard bearer was introduced by County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, chairman of the Columbiana County Republican central committee, who accompanied him on the second day of his swing through Columbiana county.

In presenting Cooper, Chairman Walker introduced him as "Ohio's next governor."

Cooper's Attitude Toward Labor.

His own attitude toward labor is shown, Cooper said, by the fact that for 25 years he has employed union labor in his home-building enterprises in Cincinnati and has "never had a strike, lock-out, or disagreement of any kind whatsoever."

One-third of his employes own their own homes through assistance he gave them, he declared, while the rental-payment plan which he originated has been the model for the nation and has aided thousands of working families all over the country to live in debt-free homes.

"The prosperity of the state and nation depends to a large extent upon the welfare of the working classes," Cooper declared, "and as governor I will do everything within my power to promote the interests of labor.

"If there is any change in the workmen's compensation act during my administration it will be to strengthen and broaden its benefits."

Calls for Check on Taxes.

Discussing taxes and their relationship to industry and labor, Cooper warned that unless a check is put on the constant pyramiding of taxation in Ohio "the state may some day drive out some of its largest industries."

The problem of taxation must be solved soon, he said, if Ohio is to hold her place in the industrial sun of America.

"I have it on the word of one of the biggest steel men in Ohio," Cooper said, "that the taxes he has to pay are just twice what he would have to pay if his plants were across the line in Pennsylvania, and that the burden constitutes a very serious problem in his business.

"If I am elected, I purpose to make a thorough study of taxation. My first step will be to make the state live within its income and point the way for greater economy by cities, counties and local subdivisions."

QUEEN MARIE OFF TO NAVAL ACADEMY, FIRST STOP OF TOUR

Roumanian Royalty Will Then Look in on Baltimore.

AUTO CARAVAN

Her Majesty Will Return to New York Tonight.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 20.—In a driving rain, Queen Marie of Roumania today reviewed the midshipmen of the United States Naval academy.

The queen and her party, accompanied by Rear Admiral B. F. Nulton and his staff of the academy, stood under a canopy as the faultless rows of blue clad midshipmen passed by in the rain and mud.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. — Thirty-nine hours as official guest of the American government behind her, Queen Marie, of Roumania, left Washington this morning to explore the United States as a private, but exceedingly distinguished tourist.

The first stop outside of the national capital for this unusual visitor of royalty was to be Annapolis, Maryland, seat of the U. S. naval academy. From there, after a brief stop of inspection, her majesty is scheduled to look in on Baltimore for luncheon and a public reception. And from the latter point, she will entrain for New York, there to rest—at least comparatively—until the start Thursday of her trans-continental tour.

Promptly at 9 o'clock, Queen Marie, her children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, and the royal entourage pulled away from the Roumanian legation for Annapolis. In the long line of automobiles rode her entire party, including ladies-in-waiting, American naval and military aides and personal friends accompanying. A detail of Maryland state police escorted the caravan.

Loses Status as Guest.

Behind her, the queen left a cyclorama picture of official Washington, points of national historic interest, facts and figures of American history and a meeting and dinner with President and Mrs. Coolidge. Her stay in the capital had been limited, but the state department had conducted her over a sight-seeing route such as would have struck joy in the heart of any native tourist.

With the departure from Washington, Queen Marie lost her status as a guest of the government and became a tourist enjoying extraordinary privileges. Her tour from now on is in the hands of the railroads, the reception committees of the cities she will visit, and the watchfulness of the secret service agents of the state department.

Marie, however, will tour as a queen. Asked about the future of her journey through America, she replied:

"I shall travel as a queen. I am a queen and I can picture myself as nothing else."

DEFENSE MOTIONS TO QUASH INDICTMENTS IN WELLSVILLE BRIBERY CHARGES ARE OVERRULED

Efforts of the defense to bring the trial of Rocco Carbicella and Frank Fusco, of Wellsville, indicted by the last grand jury on charges of bribery, to an end in common pleas court, Lisbon, today failed when Judge W. H. Spence overruled motions of Attorney W. A. O'Grady to quash indictments against the accused men.

The motions followed testimony by Sheriff George Wright, who said that he had talked in English with Carbicella and Fusco on different occasions and that they had understood him.

Attorney O'Grady then filed a motion to quash the indictment against Fusco, declaring there was no evidence to show a crime had been committed.

Prosecutor Robert Brookes opposed the motion, arguing that entrapment cannot be held as a defense.

The court held that statutes provided that joint offenders could be tried jointly and that evidence indicated Carbicella and Fusco had been connected.

Attorney O'Grady's second motion, to quash both indictments, also was overruled.

Three star witnesses for the state yesterday were W. J. Courtney, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh office of the Burns Detective agency; J. A. Ciotola and Ernest Esther, investigators.

Mayor George Russell, of Salem, and Mayor W. L. Fogo, of Wellsville, have been subpoenaed to bring their dockets into court today for the purpose of showing the record of the defendants in those two courts.

Sheriff on Witness Stand.

Sheriff Wright, who was the first witness called by the state Tuesday afternoon, testified that Carbicella and Fusco called at his office at the county jail Monday evening, Sept. 13, and, after talking about certain conditions in Wellsville, Carbicella, before he left the jail, gave him a cigar and thrust a roll of money into the pocket of the sheriff and declared that the "policeman was killed by mistake."

"I told them there was nothing doing," Sheriff Wright testified as he explained he returned the money.

Wright also testified that on the following day he was "flagged" by the two men as he was driving his car south toward East Liverpool on the Lincoln highway between Lisbon and West Point. He said that one of the men, Carbicella, said he wanted to see him again and that Carbicella added that he "didn't want the sheriff to take offense at what had happened the night before."

Sheriff Wright declared that he went to Wellsville the following day to serve grand jury subpoenas and called at the Carbicella place. Carbicella, the officer testified, made a date to meet him at the county jail on Thursday, Sept. 16. Both Carbicella and Fusco went to the county jail with fruit and confections to be given to Nick Scaccuto and Joe Fusco, who were held in jail under a first degree murder charge. They also gave the sheriff some cigars, the officer said.

He then explained that three representatives of the Burns detective agency, who were hiding in the living room at the jail, stepped into the office as the two defendants are alleged to have been in the act of passing money to the sheriff.

Sheriff Wright then introduced as evidence a number of paper bills.

The greatest virtue any car can offer
"Its engine improves with use"

ELIMINATE engine-vibration—minimize friction—do away with carbon troubles and valve grinding—and you accomplish these two important things . . .

Your up-keep cost is cut in half—and you add scores of thousands of perfectly good miles to the usefulness of your car.

In the poppet-valve-engined car, it is the pounding of cams against push-rods, the contact of push-rods on rocker-arms, the recoil of valves under coiled springs that cause vibration. And, in time, vibration will wreck the finest engine ever built into a poppet-valve car.

In the sleeve-valve-engined Willys-Knight there is no pounding of metal upon metal. No elaborate mechanism of rocker-arms and springs . . . You never have carbon troubles. There are no valves to grind . . .

The Knight engine is simplicity itself. It consists of but two metal sleeves operating with a gliding motion. No vibration. No friction. Simply two single sleeves working smoothly, silently, up and down, one within the other, in a constant film of oil—and that is all!

Earl Carroll's Vanities, Big Musical Revue, Here Thursday

New York Hit, Satirizing Timely Topics of Day, Coming to Ceramic.

"The Earl Carroll Vanities," under the direction of Jos. De Milt, Inc., will be seen in East Liverpool for the first time at the Ceramic theatre Thursday night. That this musical revue is a colossal success has been proven by the enormous box office receipts in New York at the Earl Carroll theatre, where all previous standards were smashed by the record breaking returns from the engagement of 478 consecutive performances.

Instead of a series of parodies on the current New York attractions as the custom is in the average musical revue, "The Vanities" hold a unique place in that it satirizes timely topics of the day which are familiar to everybody. Being unlimited by any of the restrictions depending upon an audience familiar with New York productions there is a universal appeal in the "Vanities" with its wit, pep, and whirlwind brand of comedy.

In addition to this, scenically, the "Vanities' is one of the most elaborate and lavish to be seen here. An army of stage hands has been mobilized to effect the quick scenic changes which number 31 in their entirety. The costumes in this stupendous production are gorgeous in the extreme, all the latest Parisian effects having been utilized to produce tone pictures that are stunning and harmonious.

Last but not least the cast who will exploit the "Vanities" is notable for its talent and liveliness. Youth is written large over the entire ensemble and stamps itself from the curtain's rise with a joyous spontaneity expressed both in terms of the brain and the feet. The sprightly juvenility of its delightful dancing is brilliant in its execution and thoroughly novel. The featured principals in the revue are Lou Powers, Bert Swor, Dave Chasen and the perfect Venus, Irene Swor. Other important members of the cast are Lew Miller, John Coyle, Alice Bradford, Marion Dowling, Kenneth Lackey, Aimee Archer, Johnny Dove, Ricco, Harry Sharpe, Louise Brooks, Walter Hamilton, John Kirk, Mary Mansfield, Emmy Dean, Virginia May, Mae Valle, Billie Menzies, Babe Bryant, Marie Goode and Ray Kavanaugh and the Earl Carroll Theatre Orchestra.

The book was written by William A. Grew and the music by Clarence Gaskill, while the dances and ensembles were arranged by David Bennett, with the entire production staged under the personal direction of Earl Carroll.

WILL WOMEN RULE US IN 1950?

Some pessimists predict that soon man will be more interested in baking a cake, or doing fancy needlework. Maybe they're right. It's a fact he no longer can lay the law down in his own home, and it is beginning to look as if the women politicians will eventually take away this privilege in the legislatures.

2nd ANNIVERSARY

McGEEHEN'S

THURSDAY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

We are celebrating our 2nd Anniversary — and going stronger every day — so much so that we have found it necessary to make some interior changes so that we may display our goods to better advantage and make it more convenient for our customers to see the articles they wish to buy.

We believe that, with these improvements, we will not only be able to continue our good service of the past but will be in a position to better it in many ways.

As we were unable to take care of the large crowd that attended our First Anniversary Sale last year, we have decided to start it this year on Thursday, continuing through Friday and Saturday of this week.

Wellsville Schools Seek Tax Levy

Wellsville and East Liverpool boards of education are riding in the same boat insofar as finances are concerned.

Like the East Liverpool district schools, which include the educational institutions in the city proper, three precincts of Liverpool township and the Southwest precinct of St. Clair township, the halls of learning in the sister city have appealed to the taxpayers to sanction an additional levy to meet operating expenses.

Wellsville electors will pass judgment on a proposed four-mill tax at the Nov. 2 election while East Liverpool voters are voicing their sentiments on a 2.3 mill proposal.

Submission of the additional millage question on the part of the two school districts is prompted by a state law which prohibits the borrowing of money by boards of education in anticipation of funds to be collected during the tax year. In other words, the statute demands the management of the schools on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

In Wellsville, electors are asked to add one mill to cope with the annual deficit and renew the three-mill levy which was voted in the fall of 1923 and which expired with the June collection of taxes this year.

If the Wellsville and East Liverpool schools are to maintain their present high standards—they are on the accredited list in Ohio—additional funds are necessary. Otherwise, drastic reductions in the faculty, probable curtailment of the school term and lowering of the standards will result.

Vote "yes" on the school tax levies.

What Do You Want?

You say you are not going to vote this time? Why not?

"What's the difference? The politicians sew everything up anyhow?"

There is this difference. If you keep on not voting, the politicians will take that as permission given by you to sew things up more and more until some fine morning you find you cannot get out of the web they have sewed around you.

If you keep on voting, showing your opinion and getting your neighbors to show their opinions, the politicians will have to defer to those opinions and do their sewing along the lines you mark for their seams.

Besides, it does make a difference. In one small city two years ago a most important improvement failed to carry by—guess how many votes. Seven.

That's your vote and your wife's and those in three or four houses more.

There were about a thousand voters in that city. Only 200 voted at all, and the negatives got it by seven votes.

One election will not decide every matter in the best possible way. But one brick does not make a foundation nor one robin a spring. Nor does one newspaper editorial get out the vote.

But if there is enough urge to vote, and enough votes are cast at this election, and enough votes at the next and the next, eventually this town and county and country will be a better place to live in.

The only way to get what you want is to keep on making plain that you want it.

Fourscore Years For All

"It is within the power of man to rid himself of every parasitic disease," declares Prof. Irving Fisher, addressing the American Health association. "The chief difficulty is not lack of knowledge but lack of appreciation. Even the common sense knowledge of exercise, sleep, fresh air and food is not yet well applied."

He is so hopeful of the outcome that he predicts this will become a nation of octogenarians by the end of the present century.

Seventy-four years is a long time to wait, but anyone may begin now and anticipate future blessedness by living more healthfully, according to information available everywhere.

Particularly must such reform be applied to the young. If our children and grandchildren are to enjoy health and longevity beyond the power of present-day grown-ups, this is the time to start.

Manly Debtors

It is good to hear Henry G. Chilton, charge d'affaires of the British embassy at Washington, saying he is glad the fuss over the British war debt has died down, and adding:

"I have little sympathy for those who whine or complain about it, because it seems to me that in the first place whining and complaining simply reduce our credit and by so much diminish the benefit we gained by our action, and secondly, because it is neither manly nor dignified."

This is the attitude taken by most of the responsible men in England. It is an attitude which, by commanding the respect of Americans, is likely to benefit the British people more in the long run than "whining," whether there are further debt reductions or not.

Manliness and fairness—being "good sports"—always pays. Americans would feel more liberal-minded as well as more respectful toward Europe in general if this British attitude were more common over there at present.

The Old Order Changeth — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—There is a distressing side to these New York welcoming demonstrations which burst with the ziss-boom-ahh of a flaming skyrocket and descend with the same unnoticed back yard plink. The town loves to roar a welcome and forget it.

The ruckus is not confined to the rabble that hailed a lady channel swimmer with banners embiazoned: "Welcome to our HERO!" It draws the cognescenti in braided morning coats and silk toppers. The entire island will thunder its "Bravo!"

If the celebrity is returning from Europe, piers will be jammed, bands will play, aeroplanes will shower roses, tugs will siren a deafening din, and the confused and bewildered victim will be led through ankle deep confetti to the City Hall steps to be welcomed by the Mayor.

New York is theirs for the moment. Big business comes to a full stop and the natives go holidaying. Celebrities do not realize the hullabaloo is not so much a tribute to them as it is merely the expression of the play spirit of an over-worked city.

Somebody has said Gotham builds a triumphal arch in order to have something to hurl at the departed hero when he has passed by. The biggest hero celebration in the city's history was accorded Admiral Dewey and in a few weeks he was riddled with mockery.

The fervor of a New York crowd during a welcome huzzah is a curious study in mob psychology. Once unleashed it runs amuck among the old as well as young. Police reserves are helpless and it often requires many ambulances to cart away the trampled.

And the celebrities lifted to such dizzy pinnacles find themselves high and dry and almost unnoticed a few days later. New York seems to say: "We made fools of ourselves over you—beat it!" So they can only seek solace in the theatrical booking offices.

The greatest trial of stage stars is to face the inevitable public indifference when popularity wanes. Only the extremely philosophical can realize they had their day and make the best of it. Few are able to comprehend while applause is ringing in their ears that one day soon they will be pointed out as "once a star."

Upper Broadway in the Eighties has innumerable jewelry stores whose proprietors have returned from an audition of the tweeting birdies bound and gagged in a back room with their stock gone. To aid in their safety a "hold up" police alarm box has been installed in a sidewalk clock near 84th street.

There are 15 special air mail boxes striped red, white and blue between Grand Central and the battery yet they average only a few letters a day. Sufficient ordinary postage marked "Air Mail" does the trick and hasty New York is too busy to search out the special boxes.

New York seems to have shown undue excitement about the five year run of the "Abie" show. James A. Herne's first play "Hearts of Oak" ran twelve years.

In a rather nude musical revue program I notice: "Scanties furnished by the Blank Brassiere Co." What the heck, a country boys asks to know, is a scanty?

In the same program is an ad urging wives to romp to a certain studio and have their faces analyzed. It intimates the only way to keep a husband these day is to be always merry and bright.

Millions in Precious Stamps.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Postage stamp collecting, which boys and girls start as a game and grown men and women make a lifetime hobby, profession, or business, is having one of its greatest demonstrations this week in New York where the International Postage Stamp Exhibition is being held in the Grand Central Palace. The greatest philatelic experts and the leading collectors from all parts of the world are in attendance. Some 600 collectors from many different countries are showing their rarest and most valuable collections, and in addition there are government exhibits by the United States, through the Post Office Department, and by Canada, Sweden, and Austria.

A grand champion trophy will be awarded for the best collection of rarities and fine specimens in the exhibition, and twelve palms of honor will be presented to the collectors whose exhibits show championship excellence in the issues of one of more countries. In addition there will be gold medals for the best exhibit from every stamp issuing country, and silver and bronze medals for those of outstanding merit—570 medals in all, the design for which was made by the famous sculptor, Emil Fuchs, who is distinguished in the philatelic world for his design of the British postage stamps bearing the portrait of the late King Edward.

Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 stamps are being shown, a total far in excess of that entered in any previous international exhibition. From 250,000 to 300,000 stamps are exhibited in 900 glass cases, 4 by 5 feet in dimensions, and so displayed that the judges can study every aspect of their peculiarities in variety, perforation, color shades, and state of preservation. The great bulk of the stamps, however, are exhibited in albums, many of the collectors who are competing in several classes having from 50 to 100 albums each.

The judges, of whom there are 24, have an almost impossible task in the inspecting and evaluating as rarities of these millions of stamps. Eight of the judges are from the United States, their group being headed by John N. Luff, who is conceded to be the greatest stamp expert in this country.

Runs Into Important Money.

The aggregate value of the exhibits in the Grand Central Palace can only be hazily approximated, but it runs into what the American slaughterer calls important money. Like rare pictures and other works of art, and rare coins, rare stamps are worth what their owners ask for them or other avid collectors will pay for them. A line on values may be obtained from what famous collections have brought at sales.

The collection of Count de Ferrari, of Austria, the greatest philatelists have ever known, realized approximately $2,000,000. Ferrari was living and housing his collection in Paris at the time of the World war and it was seized by the French government as alien property and sold to help pay the French reparations claims. The collection of George Worthington, of Cleveland, netted his estate close to $1,000,000, while the Duveen collection, in England, was valued slightly in excess of that amount.

Arthur Hind, of Utica, who is now recognized as the leading stamp collector in the world—Ferrari's successor—is the principal American exhibitor at the Grand Central Palace. Three years ago at the international exhibition in London he won the grand championship trophy and it will occasion general surprise if he does not carry off the honors this year. No estimate has been made as to the value of Mr Hind's entire collection and he is not showing all of it in New York—only his choicest specimens and his most interesting units.

But one of his exhibits is creating a furore for it is the only one of its kind in the world. It is a one-cent British Guiana stamp of the issue of 1856, and Mr. Hind paid $32,500 for it at the Ferrari sale four years ago. Others of his treasures that he is showing include the Duveen one-penny, unused, and the two-penny, used, Mauritius stamps of the Post Office 1847 issue that are worth $15,000 to $20,000, and the only envelope in existence with the cancelled copies of both varieties, for which he recently paid $55,000 at a private sale.

Also he exhibits the only known copies of the Boscawen, N. H., stamp and the Lockport, N. Y., stamp which he purchased from the Ferrari collection for $12,000 and $8,500, respectively, and a copy of the rare Hawaiian Missionary two-cent stamp of 1851, acquired at the same time for $14,500. Mr. Hind's display also includes the largest collection in the world of the stamps of the native states of India, which fills twelve volumes of 120 pages each, and the finest of all collections of United States issues.

A Forester and Philatelist.

Another prominent American exhibitor is Charles Lathrop Pack, who is probably better known as a forestry expert and conservationist than as a philatelist, so far as the general public is concerned. Mr. Pack is showing his collection of early Victoria stamps, about which he wrote a monograph that won him the gold medal for philatelic research at the London exhibition, and his Brazilian collection. His son, Capt. Arthur N. Pack, is also exhibiting, his feature being a collection of New Zealand stamps said to be the finest in the world.

Postmaster General New has showed his interest in the exhibition by advancing the official sale of the new stamp commemorating the 150th anniversary of the battle of White Plains from October 28 to October 16, the opening day of the New York gathering. The only places in the United States where these stamps were sold that day were White Plains and the branch office of the Government Philatelic Agency in the Grand Central Palace. In addition to the sale of the stamps, special sheets of 25 surrounded by a specially designed border were printed in the exhibition

"Strain is whut I stands the best."

"Listen here, then. On every week-day we give four performances—two matinees, two night shows."

"Meks no diffe'nce to me, suh. You furnishes de aigs an' de audiences an' I do de rest."

"But on holidays we run a continuous performance from ten in the morning until eleven in the evening."

COUNCIL VOTES FOR ASHLEY TO SEEK CONTRACT

Authorizes Service Director to Negotiate 10-year Terms.

ONE BID FILED

Telephone Franchise Question Submitted to Atty. General.

City council last night authorized Service Director George Ashley to enter into a 10-year contract with the Ohio Power company for the city's supply of electric lights.

The ordinance carrying the authority to act was passed as an emergency measure by unanimous vote.

The city recently advertised for bids for its current supply and the Ohio Power company was the sole bidder.

A schedule of lights for the city which will be operated under the new contract, is being drawn up by council committees.

Clerk George Hardman notified solons that the city had communicated with the attorney general of Ohio as to what steps should be taken in order to compel the Ohio Bell Telephone company to obtain a new franchise for their service here. The company's last contract with the city expired in October, 1925.

In reply to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld's warning that the Carnegie library board is running short of funds and probably would be unable to finish the year under the $1,000 annual appropriation made by the city for library purposes, Mayor W. L. Fogo urged leniency and advised the auditor to assist the library in the situation by appropriating money from the safety fund to see the institution through to the first of the year.

"Don't be too close with them," the chief executive urged. "Give them some money out of the safety fund and I'll see that we get along."

Council was advised of the necessity of obtaining more money for a continuance of the "clean-up" work now under way under the direction of Service Director Ashley and Mayor Fogo in the west end of the city.

It is costing the city at the rate of approximately $75 daily, under ordinary conditions, to clean up after three of the worst rain storms in the history of the city, and, consequently, the $3,000 set aside by the solons some time ago for this purpose, is almost exhausted, according to Auditor Eckfeld.

Solons generally were in favor of getting more money to continue the work, but no definite action was taken. It is likely the matter will be considered at an adjourned meeting, which will be held Tuesday, October 26.

Auditor Eckfeld's report for last month shows the following balances: General fund, $1,186.27; safety fund, $2,789.18; health, $503.09; service, $2,335.70; water, $2,899.91; cemetery, $1,882.97; library, $367.27; gasoline tax, $6,219.44; special water, $29,954.62; auto license, $2,714.79; firemen's indemnity, $350.06; cemetery trust, $505.02; sinking fund depository, $65,226.54.

Solons Vote to Transfer $500 For Legal Costs In Fultz Court Fight

Resolution Fails as Emergency Measure When Connor and Swearingen Cast Dissenting Ballots; Passed on First Reading.

A resolution authorizing the transfer of $500 from the safety fund to the general fund, for the payment of costs in proceedings in error in the city's appeal from the finding of common pleas court in the removal case of Chief of Police John Fultz, was passed by council last night on first reading.

The resolution, brought up first as an emergency measure, failed to pass in this form as a result of dissenting votes by two members of council and was passed subseqhently on first reading.

Councilmen W. C. Connor and Ted Swearingen voted against the measure and Solons Raymond McLean, Charles Peters, John Reil, Fred Heldman and William Nicholson cast affirmative ballots.

After failure of the emergency clause, the measure was re-introduced by Solons Peters and Reil and approved by a five to two vote on first reading.

HOPE TO ADJUST WATER PROBLEM

Arbitration Proceedings Temporarily Held Up.

Although negotiations in the arbitration proceedings between the city and Contractor A. W. Hinaman, who constructed the reservoir in Little Yellow Creek have been held up temporarily, City Solicitor S. C. Luccock holds out hope that the differences between the city and Hinaman will eventually be ironed out.

Further action in the controversy, Solicitor Luccock states, will not be taken until some time next month, at least until after the November election.

Claims and counter claims of the two sides probably will be grouped together when efforts at settlement are made.

No agreement has been reached on the third, or neutral arbitrator.

FOUR MONTH SCHOOL TERM IF LEVY FAILS

Possibility Pointed Out by Board of Education.

WANT FOUR MILLS

No Laws in Existence to Relieve Situation.

Operating at a deficit even in the face of a three-mill levy voted in 1923, Wellsville school district will be threatened with a four-month term, instead of the customary nine months if the proposed four-mill tax levy fails at the election on Tuesday, November 2, according to announcement today by the local board of education.

The board is asking for a renewal of the three-mill levy, which expired this year, and in addition, one mill to take care of the deficit.

During the past three years, the board points out, the total tax rate for school purposes in Wellsville district has been 11.77 mills. With the expiration of the three-mill levy, the rate has been reduced to 8.77 mills. On a valuation of $10,000,000, which is the approximate tax duplicate of the school district, the 8.77 mills will produce $87,700. This amount would be sufficient to run the public schools were it not for the bonded indebtedness and therein lies the difficulty.

The board of education sets aside annually a sufficient amount of the school revenues to pay off the bonds falling due and interest accruing on bonded indebtedness. Money thus set aside cannot be used for current expenses. During the past year the interest and sinking fund requirements were $34,000. For the school year of 1926-27, a greater number of bonds mature and these, with the interest, amount to $49,000. This obligation must be met before all others as required by law. If the four-mill levy fails the board of education will have only the difference between $87,700 and $49,000, or $38,700 with which to run the schools, an amount sufficient for four months only. No law exists for the relief of such an embarrassing situation.

With the adoption of the levy, the district will be able to retire all bonds as they fall due and maintain the schools for the full term.

Under this policy the bonded indebtedness will be reduced annually and a corresponding reduction will result in the tax rate.

Pointing out the board's position in the situation, officers assert: "The board of education executes the will of the people concerning their schools. Beyond certain limits defined by law they cannot go without the approval of the community they represent. They are the custodians of the school funds and are responsible for the manner in which these funds are used but they cannot create revenues for school purposes. The standards of the schools, as in most other things, will be determined largely by what the community is willing to pay for them."

Ever since the inception of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., the producers of the Richard Barthelmess features, surprising discoveries in screen talent and personalities have been made. The screen has been enriched by very considerable addition.

In "The Amateur Gentleman," the Richard Barthelmess feature, now at the American theatre, the public is introduced to Barthelmess' new leading lady, Dorothy Dunbar, who is six months rose from extra girl to the highly important role opposite him in this romantic film.

Thus Inspiration Pictures maintains its reputation for sponsoring "unknows" in their films. In "Tol'able David," the first of the Inpiration-Barthelmess features, Ernest Torrence and Warner Richmond got their big chance. Mary Astor was awarded her first big plum in "The Bright Shawl," Pauline Garon in "Sonny," Ronald Colman in "The White Sister," Charles Lane in "Romola" and Herbert Grimwood as Savonarola in "Romola."

"The Amateur Gentleman," the locale of which is laid in the England of 1817 and concerns the adventures of a youth who would be a "gentleman," contains a remarkable all-star cast in support of Richard Barthelmess.

The cast includes: Dorothy Dunbar, Gardner James, Herbert Grimwood, Brandon Hurst, Nigel Barrie, John Miljan, Gino Corrado, John S. Peter, Sidney de Gray, Billie Bennett, J. Edwards Davis and Jacques D'Auray.

hall, and sold at face value. The government's exhibition of stamps includes all of present issues and many of former years.

In all, the exhibits of United States collectors are said to be valued at more than $3,000,000, the exhibits from England at more than $1,000,000, and those from other countries at an additional two or three millions.

An interesting feature of the big stamp show is the department for junior collectors in which scores of boys and a few girls are exhibiting their treasures. Among the most celebrated of the foreign youths who are represented there is a lad who is the exiled heir to a throne. Should he ever come into his birthright he will be known as Otto II, of Hungary. Prince Otto is now living with his mother, Queen Zita, in Spain.

Stamp collecting, when it is carried to the point of trying to win trophies and medals in international exhibitions, is a hobby in which only rich men can indulge themselves, as the values that have been cited indicate. A game that is played with counters that cost $32,000 or $55,000 is no sport for a man who hasn't got a mint working overtime for him.

Actual Performance Is The Only True Test Of Radio Superiority

Claims of superiority — of supremacy — of achievement — are made every day — but claims cannot always be taken at their face value — You'll remember Dr. Frederick Cook, who claimed that he riscovered the North Pole—and—got by with it for awhile—only to be found a fraud in the end and with nothing to back up his previous claims.

That, however, is not our method of doing business. We are not satisfied with making claims of superiority for the Radios we feature—but instead—insist upon the demonstration of these superiorities by actual performance—a test which we believe to be the most practical—the most assuring and the most satisfactory.

twelve thousand million nerve cells, you wonder that we are not all of us mentally out of order all of the time.

A CAMPAIGN has been started under the direction of the very able Rev. Charles Stelzie "to sell religion to the people." This means an advertising campaign to arouse interest in religion.

It might be wise to hire a good astronomer. If the people could be persuaded to go out at night, stand alone and look up at the sky, religion would gain rapidly. That is how it started. Napoleon, standing at night on the deck of the ship carrying him to St. Helena, pointed to the stars and said: "You must admit that someone made all that."

NEW SERVICE STATION OPEN

Turk-Nash Company Acquires Rural Lane Location.

The Turk-Nash Sales company today opened a new service station in Rural Lane, off Dresden avenue, directly opposite the company's present display rooms.

The new station, 50x60 feet, is a modernly equipped automobile repair shop. Through the Reeke-Nash Motor company, Cleveland, Nash distributors for north and eastern Ohio, Mike Turk, manager of the local company, has engaged Ralph Brookes, as factory service manager. Six expert mechanics are employed in the shop.

With the opening of the new station the Turk-Nash Motor Sales company has discontinued the use of their Dresden avenue building for service work. Display rooms and the used car department will be maintained there.

Turk today extended an invitation to the public to visit the new service station.

"Restoration of this levy is uncalled for," he declared. "It would place an added burden of $7,000,000 a year on the home and farm owners of the state and they already are too heavily burdened. We can get along in Ohio without increased taxation at this time if we inject some genuine business management into government."

Touching upon the bankrupted state treasury, Cooper laid full responsibility on the shoulders of Governor Donahey. He pointed out that the governor has direct control over the expenditure of 75 per cent of the state's money, or about 40 millions a year, and that it is up to that official to keep the state on an even financial keel.

Cooper charged "gross extravagance and waste" is everywhere apparent throughout the present administration, and pointed to huge purchases by the highway department to back up his assertions. He declared the state since Jan. 1 has bought 172 new high priced automobiles, although it already had more than enough for its needs and "more by 700 than any other state in the union."

Cites State Extravagance.

Ohio now owns 1864 autos, the speaker said, while New York, is next with 1254.

When the Donahey administration went in three and a half years ago, Cooper said 98 per cent of state-owned motor cars were touring cars, roadsters and other work types. Now, he declared, at least 75 per cent of them are limousines, sedans, coaches, coupes and "other pleasure models designed for pleasure driving and used for that much of the time by officials and favored employes."

The highway department, Cooper said, spent $2,000,000 last year for equipment—more than any other state—although a treasury deficit was in plain sight. "I mention these matters to illustrate how the taxpayers money is being thrown away at Columbus, he said.

Cooper arrived in East Liverpool shortly after 12 o'clock from Lisbon where he addressed a mass meeting in the court house at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

In addition to Cooper, who was accompanied by Mrs. Cooper, the party included Congressman Frank Murphy, Steubenville; Earl B. Lewis, St. Clairsville, candidate for the state senate; Ralph W. Emmons, East Rochester and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, candidates for state representative; George Wright, candidate for sheriff; Elmer E. Walker, county auditor; J. Howard Sinclair candidate for county commissioner; Fred George, candidate for county treasurer; Paul H. Smith, candidate for county recorder; Robert N. Brookes, candidate for prosecuting attorney; Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and Attoney W. F. Lones, candidates for common pleas judge.

Immediately following his open air meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper together with Congressman Murphy, and County Auditor Elmer Walker took luncheon at Larkins' restaurant, Market street. Cooper then went to the Republican headquarters in East Fifth street where he conferred with party leaders.

Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon, the Republican standerd bearer was taken to Wellsville where he was to address a meeting of voters in city hall.

Following the Wellsville meeting, Cooper and his party will be taken to Steubenville, where a Republican rally will be held tonight. Cooper will be driven to Steubenville by Sheriff George Wright. The trip from Lisbon to East Liverpool was made in an auto driven by Russell C. Heddleston.

Congressman Murphy discussed the importance of the tariff to the pottery industry and urged support of the Republican ticket in an address after Cooper had spoken.

CORDWIN NAMED CHAIRMAN OF TRAFFIC BOARD

George C. Thompson is Elected Vice Chairman.

DIEHL SECRETARY

Plan to Formulate "Sensible and Practicable" Regulations.

W. Harry Cordwin, general manager of the Frank Crook Furniture company, was elected chairman of the recently appointed city traffic commission at a meeting in the headquarters of the Columbiana County Motor club, Sixth street and Dresden avenue, yesterday afternoon.

George C. Thompson, of the C. C. Thompson Pottery company, was named vice president, while E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club, was chosen secretary. The other members of the commission are Norman McHenry, carpenter, and Frank Hull, pottery worker.

Members were sworn in by Mayor Ralph Benedum, who called the meeting. A general discussion of traffic conditions followed. A tentative program, presented by Secretary Diehl, was adopted providing for a thorough study of traffic needs. The Commission will formulate proposed regulations which are "sensible and practicable" and which conform with the state traffic code, arrange for the marking of streets, provide for street lighting and warning signals and sufficient traffic patrolman to reasonably enforce all such regulations.

The board also decided to go into the parking regulations more thoroughly. Streets where parking is banned or permitted for short periods, will be marked for the convenience of motorists. Cross-walks in the business district also will be marked.

Another meeting will be held in the motor club headquarters on Friday, October 29. Recommendations and suggestions from the public regarding traffic matters are invited by the board.

Defense Overruled

United States money, with the serial numbers enumerated on a separate sheet of paper. This money was marked as the state's exhibit.

It was testified that after the Burns' men entered the room that Carbicella said that the "money was to apply on his liquor fine at Salem."

"When the men first talked to me on Monday night, Sept. 13, I told them that they couldn't hand me any money," Sheriff Wright testified under cross-examination by Defense Attorney Ben L. Bennett of East Liverpool. "Scaccuto told me that he had worked for Carbicella as a clerk, and that he had also sold liquor for him," Sheriff Wright said.

To a question suggested by Bennett to Sheriff Wright, Judge W. H. Spence said:

"The witness will not be permitted to testify as to any conversation relative to the murder case, neither will any examination be permitted relative to the murder case."

Sheriff Wright then told of the first call of Carbicella and Fusco at the county jail, and also their visit on Thursday, Sept. 16.

W. J. Courtney Testifies.

W. J. Courtney, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh office of the Burns agency, under direct examination by Prosecutor Brookes, testified that he was in conference at the county jail with Sheriff Wright when the two men first called there, and that Sheriff Wright told them to come back again. When the two men returned, Courtney, who was still in conference with him, retired into the living room where Ciotola and Ester were listening on a radio. It was testified that after Carbicella and Fusco seated themselves in the office of the jail, Sheriff Wright went into the parlor and shut off the radio.

"When the men were leaving the office, I heard Sheriff Wright say to Carbicella and Fusco, 'No, No! nothing like that,' Courtney testified.

"When the men called at the jail Thursday afternoon, and we walked from the living room into the jail office, I said to Rocco, 'you walked right into it,' and he said, 'yes.'"

Courtney testified that his presence at the county jail and his conference with Sheriff Wright were upon investigation foreign to the case now on trial.

LABOR ENDORSES CITY BOND PLAN

Endorsement of the proposed $225,000 municipal building bond issue, with the recommendation that the structure be erected on the Taylor lot, West Sixth street, was voted by members of Local Union No. 124 at a meeting in Trades and Labor council hall last night. The action was taken after the proposition had been explained by President of Council N. P. Kerr and Councilmen Poole and Hughes.

The city hall proposition was also discussed by Mayor Benedum and Councilman Thomas Farrall at a meeting in the Second Baptist church last night. They also spoke at a mass meeting held in the Garfield school. Superintendent C. S. McVay and D. F. White, president of the board of education, were the principal speakers in behalf of the school levy.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—With the exception of a few of the railroad stocks, utilities and specialties, further losses were sustained by the active speculative stocks at the beginning of trading today, and the downward movement promptly resumed.

The over-night accumulation of selling orders was not very heavy, but traces of confusion over the European trade manifesto were still in evidence in the Wall street district, and the professionals were in no hurry to cover their short lines. An extremely favorable weekly freight traffic report was ignored, while emphasis was placed on the Petroleum Institute's estimate of record-breaking crude oil production and the almost certainty of a cut in crude oil prices. Call money renewed at 4 1-2 per cent.

All You Expect

To become a Lucky Strike smoker makes one more critical of cigarettes.

Usual standards no longer appeal. For in Lucky Strikes you get the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended—and something more.

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market.

But in Luckies you enjoy the results of an added process of toasting.

This gives Luckies their distinct superiority.

In Lucky Strikes you find:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

Thus the toasting process is an addition. It adds a unique and distinct improvement to a cigarette that has already been made from the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. It is the reason millions prefer Lucky Strikes.

"It's toasted"

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

BOOK FOUR—VIII.

"I can't understand," she observed, as Jock sat scowlingly silent, "why you aren't more enthusiastic. Dearest boy, don't you see what fun it would be? We go somewhere to dance almost every night anyway—why not get paid for doing it, while we're about it? Wouldn't you like that better than sitting poked off in some stupid office somewhere? Just for a while. Just till we're married—naturally I wouldn't want you to be a cabaret entertainer all your life, with the brains you've got and the education you've had—"

"It's not me I'm worrying about!" spoke up Jock with more earnestness than attention to grammar. "I wouldn't mind it. In fact I think it would be great stuff, for a few weeks—snappy way to put in the time while I'm making up my mind what I want to do with myself. But you, Yvonne—I don't care what you say, there's no reason on God's earth why you—"

Yvonne interrupted this speech with a long kiss full on the lips. "That's my way of saying 'shut up, Jock Hamill,'" she explained sweetly.

"It's a great way! I could use a lot of those. But listen, about this Terrace Tavern business—"

She kissed him again.

After which he continued to say "But listen—" at two-minutes intervals all the rest of the afternoon. Not protestingly; gleefully, for the kiss each repetition earned him. And protest, thus neglected in the heyday of more palatable matters, withered and died away.

Often in the days that followed he wondered what had become of it. He had not intended to give in so easily; he hadn't intended to give in at all! But Yvonne now obviously considered the thing decided, and was going ahead with preparations in a manner so final that the time for discussion seemed past and irrevocable. And Jock, after his preliminary puny splashing, swam with the stream.

"Can't do anything now," he assured himself comfortably. "Too late now. We're all set."

And they were. After arduous hours of practice, they had "tried out" before August Schultz and been accepted as a team. Impassively. Everything August Schultz did he did impassively, with an air of scarcely knowing and not one iota caring whether or not the thing was done. He was a porcine gentleman with a vague chin or chins, a motley assortment of teeth, some gold, some bad, some false, some missing, and little half-shut slits of eyes, like buttonholes embroidered deep in the pasty cushion of his face. After hearkening to two selections by Jock, he had said "You're hired" in such a drear, dead voice that Jock had been compelled to whisper to Yvonne, "Hired or fired?" before he could be sure how to answer. From the very beginning, August Schultz delighted him. He always referred to him as "my Boss" with becoming, if synthetic, reverence, and was found of giving squinty impersonations of him for the benefit of all and sundry. Also he made him the unwitting hero of several hilarious rhymes, noteworthy among them one beginning: "I prithee, August Schultz, reveal to me, Who in the hell doth do thy dentistry?" . . .

He had rather expected that his mother would prove difficult to handle in this contretemps, but, as he afterward informed Yvonne, "You can't jar that lady!" Mrs. Hamill gave vent to a few calm whys and wherefores, characterized the whole affair as "simply mad," and washed her hands of it. To Saunders Lincoln only did she confide her true attitude.

"There wasn't any use making a fuss," she said. "Though goodness knows I wanted to! Just imagine Jock, of all boys in the world, contenting himself with playing the banjo in a cheap wayside dance hall! I don't know what's come over him. Yes, I do too, it's that Yvonne, she has him wrapped around her little finger. He's so dazzled, he can't see beyond his own nose. If I were not so sure this was just a phase—but it is a phase. It's got to be!"

"What's Yvonne like?" Saunders Lincoln queried.

"Beautiful as a dream, wise as all the ages, shallow, superficial, rather notoriously immoral — I've had her looked up, of course—and at least six years older than Jock," said Mrs. Hamill all in a breath. "And, strange to say, really in love with him, unless my intuition deceives me as it never did before. Why she doesn't marry him is quite beyond me, for she could have him tomorrow if she whistled. He says she's trying to make him wait a year. I hope she succeeds! She won't be able to get him so easily, in a year, if she did but realize! She'd destroy him in time, you know, Saunders. In the worst way. Not by a single blow—he'd recover from that—but by a slow insidious poison."

"Did you tell Jock all this?"

Mrs. Hamill glared irritably. "My dear Saunders, don't be such a ninny! Do you think I'd help this affair along by opposing it? Indeed I did not tell him, nor shall I unless worst comes to worst. I shall sit tight, and let the thing work itself out. And continue to pretend I'm delighted with Yvonne, so that in the event they decide to get married I'll know about it in time to get busy."

"Perhaps—" began Lincoln speculatively.

Mrs. Hamill caught his meaning. "I hope so!" she nodded. "I sincerely hope so. That would solve the problem quicker than anything else." . . .

Terrace Tavern is built a cautious little off the beaten track. But travelers of the beaten track, though they do not actually pass its door, are assured that it lies somewhere in the vicinity by a series of signboards pricked out with red electric bulbs. These read variously, becoming more garrulous as the distance becomes less. "Five Miles to Terrace Tavern." "Four Miles to Terrace Tavern—August Schultz, Prop." "Only Two Miles to Terrace Tavern — Chicken, Steak and Lobster Dinners." "One Mile More to Terrace Tavern—Dancing Every Evening Six to Two—Happy Hatton's Celebrated Syncopated Seven." A speedometer mile-and-three-quarters beyond this last there is a giant crimson arrow pointing into a thicket and the terse injunction, "TURN HERE FOR TERRACE TAVERN," in letters a foot high.

At night, the injunction is continually obeyed. Car after car leaves the highway and twists along a serpentine size-road, until its headlights are one with the light that blazes like noon in the clearing at the end. August Schultz has ever been a firm believer in electricity for outdoor use. It allures, it looks hospitable and happy, and as an aid to motorists somewhat inebriated it is invaluable. For indoor use, of course, he doesn't think so much of it.

Terrace Tavern is long and low and sprawling, made of stuco. It has a red tile roof, innumerable windows bonneted with red-and-white striped awnings, and below the window, boxes, in which things assorted grow. A liveried negro with a flashing white grin holds the door wide open for you to enter, then lets it whisk to behind you so abruptly that you feel as though you had been swept in by a broom. On the wings of this headstart you hasten down a long tunnel of hall paved with red carpet, and bring up against a triple barrier of tall painted screen, velvet rope, and dinner-coated functionary who eyes you phlegmatically. From behind the screen, sounds issue . . . the whamwham of jazz, or the combined roar of speech and laughter and forks on china . . . orchestra and guests in alternate hubbub. The dinner-coated functionary has to incline his ear to your lips to hear you say, "A table near the floor if you have it," and you have to incline yours to his to hear him reply that he hasn't it but that he'll give you something in a corner.

take S.S.S. and be PROUD of a CLEAR SKIN

DOES YOUR MIRROR reveal a soft, clear, ruddy skin, free from imperfections, that is such a joy to every woman? Or are you embarrassed with blemishes, pimples, little eruptions, acne, blackheads and other unsightly and disfiguring handicaps?

Your skin is in reality your passport, and if your mirror reveals a blemished, unsightly complexion, it is time to begin at once to correct this annoying condition. When the blood becomes infected with humors or impurities, the circulation cannot supply rich nutrition to the skin, but instead it deposits the acrid impurities with which it is contaminated into the sensitive fibres and tissues. This causes irritation or inflammation which splits or breaks the outer cuticle, while the tissues beneath ulcerate, become inflamed, break out into pimples, and cause other unsightly irritations.

Just as Long as the Blood Remains Pure, the Skin Will be Free From Eruptions

But when the blood becomes affected with humors, its nourishing and healthful properties are lost and its humor-laden condition causes inflammation of the delicate tissues and fibres of the pores and glands. You have but to realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of all skin disorders is in the blood. Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and therefore cannot be reached by a treatment that is strictly local, but is deep down in the blood supply.

S. S. S. Has a Proved Record of Over 100 Years as the World's Best Blood Medicine

Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it clears the system and makes those so-called skin disorders impossible to exist. S. S. S. contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. It is also a remarkable builder of firm flesh which is also important to beauty. It will fill out your hollow cheeks, put the "ruby" of health in your cheeks and the sparkle in your eyes. Since 1926, S. S. S. has been beautifying complexions and giving women physical charm. That is why S. S. S. is accepted as the greatest of all blood accepted cleansers and body builders. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The larger size bottle is more economical. Start taking S. S. S. today. Its marvelous results will amaze you!

Use of Five Possible All-American Stars Productive of Punch

Makes Expeditious Use of Hidden Ball Attack Wondrously Timed and Executed and Has the Men to Make it Effective, Murphy, Sophomore Quarterback, is Key-man of Play.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The eye may be quicker than the hand but you can prove it neither by the come-on who tried to beat the shell game at the county fair nor the football teams that have tried to beat Pennsylvania this season. Four of them, Franklin and Marshall, Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore and Chicago, have given the matter their attention and some of the boys haven't seen the ball yet.

Pennsylvania is making expeditious use of a hidden ball attack, so wonderously timed and executed as to suggest parlor magic. Alonzo Stagg seemed to think it was the greatest yet but, as to that, I don't think the team yet lives that can take the play away from that old Harvard slight-of-hand business that Haughton once used.

It is the type of attack that needs the men to make it really useful and Pennsylvania has them in plenty. In fact, the team is nursing five all American possibilities in George Thayer, end; Jack Butler, center; Charley Rogers and Al Wascolonis, backs, and Paul Murphy, quarterback.

Murphy Is Key-Man.

The latter is the key-man in the attack, the boy who makes the motions that send defensive linemen chasing devotedly after the man who hasn't the ball. Paul is only a sophomore but he looks the part of a fine all around football player.

He's a quarterback of the old school, the kind that kicks, runs and passes in addition to calling the plays. He does everything well and, in spite of the fact that the veteran, Laird, is ready as an understudy, I think it would go very hard with Pennsylvania if it lost Murphy, even for a half game.

Rogers, however, is another ideal triple threat and probably the greatest ball runner in the squad, if not in the east. Walcolonis and Clarence Fields are the line crackers and every man in the backfield can be turned loose to receive passes but the bellwether at this game is Captain Thayer at end. He may be the best of a lot of good wings that we have in the east this season.

Paul Scull is another good ball runner, just good enough in all departments to keep men like Fields and Jesse Douglas, veterans of several years, standing, out of the starting line. Douglas, in fact, is out pretty much altogether.

For Pennsylvania is almost affluent in material. Thayer and Don Singer are hang-over ends from last year. So is F. Scull, their immediate understudy. The same goes for the tackles, Ed Hake, Bob Pike and Ed Fonde and one of the guards, Dick Snyder. Butler was shifted from guard to center between seasons, leaving only Sam Parke and Stewart Brydon as forwards of no great previous experience.

Possesses the Punch.

With its surplus of veteran class, it is difficult to see how Pennsylvania can go wrong. But it can. I didn't like its seven man line with the old style box defense against Chicago and I would say that a better passing team might have given the Penn defense plenty to do. It may find, too, that it is playing its tackles and ends a trifle too close in when it meets Illinois next week. Grange never would have run as wild as he did last year if Pennsylvania forwards had followed a less conservative style of play.

However, there is no mistaking the facts that Pennsylvania has the punch. Its fine set of backs operate behind a line which seems to be at its best as an attacking unit. It showed something of the savor of genius in opening holes against Chicago. Even the fact that the latter's forwards were none too good can't dim the lustre of the performance. It was very evident that the Penn linemen know entirely too much offensive football to go very far wrong against the worthiest of opposition.

The attack, therefore, comes by its effectiveness honestly. It isn't one of those point-a-minute machines but it has averaged 38 points through four games and that is better than any Pennsylvania team has done during modern times. It really deserves its ranking of the moment with the best in the east.

Mother Gives Son and Wife Gives Hubby To Ohio Conference Football

Pleadings of Pair of Stars Finally Prevail and They'll be Back in Lineup Saturday.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 20.—A mother's and a wife's consent will be two chief factors in this week's feature Ohio conference football game when Western Reserve meets Wooster Saturday. It is a mother's consent that gives Reserve a new quarterback, a man who can pass, kick and run with the ball. It is a wife's consent that keeps one of the most consistent ground gainers of Ohio's collegiate gridders in the Reserve lineup.

Harold Fellinger, who was considered as the Cleveland team's best bet at the start of the season may call signals against Wooster Saturday. Because Harold is an only son of a widow mother he was forced to quit football after the second day of practice. An injury to Harold would mean a catastrophe to the closest human to his mother's heart. But after much pleading and the passing of three games, in which Reserve won two and lost one, she has given way to her son's never ending pleadings.

Fritz Phypers, Reserve fullback, was on trial in the game against Oberlin last week. After the tilts in which Western Reserve trounced Hiram and Baldwin-Wallace, Fritz sustained an injured knee. His bride of only a month and a half was against her youthful collegiate hubby playing football and getting hurt. She promised to put him on probation in the game with Oberlin. Fritz gained more than 200 yards all by himself in the Oberlin tilt. And now, well, his bride just can't keep him out of the game.

This business of consents seems to be an epidemic among Cleveland colleges. A professor's consent gives Case a new fullback. He is Bill Hess, who played on the Case freshman team back in 1922 and on the same team with Benny Friedman, Michigan's All American quarterback, in his high school days. This week Hess was declared eligible for play after staying away from academic life for two years. In his sophomore year he went to Minnesota and played on the frosh eleven there.

Case meets Denison here Saturday in Cleveland's only college game of the day. John Carroll goes to Detroit where it meets Detroit University Saturday afternoon.

EX-BUC BEGAN CAREER IN P. O. M.

McKechnie's Career Full of Interesting Twists.

Few baseball men have had a baseball career with as many varying and interesting twists as that of Bill McKechnie, who has just been relieved of the Pirate management. Universally liked by hundreds of diamond performers with whom he has been thrown in contact in an unusually large number of leagues, McKechnie was always noted for his clean habits and conscientious efforts. Bill was never what is classified as a good hitter, but his defensive play sparkled from the time he first started to attract notice on the sandlots.

McKechnie made his first real bid for fame when he played for Washington, Pa., in the P. O. M. League. That was about 20 years ago. From the P. O. M. circuit he moved to the O. and P. league and later he starred in the infield for the Wheeling team of the Central League.

In his P. O. M. and O. and P. days McKechnie acquired a large number of friends in the East Liverpool district. He performed frequently at West End park, now known as Patterson Field, as a member of the Washington club and later, when C. A. Smith took over the East Liverpool team, McKechnie joined the Ceramic City organization as an infielder. From here he went to Wheeling.

The Pirates landed McKechnie in 1910. From that time until 1916, Bill did service with two other major league teams—the Braves and the Yankees.

When the Federal League swung into action in 1915, McKechnie was placed in charge of the Newark club. As pilot of this "outlaw" aggregation, Bill helped to develop Eddie Roush, who was destined to become one of the biggest stars in the National League.

Peace being signed between the majors and the Federals at the conclusion of the 1915 season, McKechnie, under the terms of the pact, was assigned to the Giants. Bill played part of one season for McGraw and then was traded, along with Christy Mathewson, to Cincinnati for Buck Herzog. Matty was wanted as pilot for the Reds and he was placed in charge of the Cincinnati club, he holding this position until he went into the army.

From Cincinnati, McKechnie eventually went to the American Association. Playing third base for Joe Cantillon at Minneapolis, Mac's work was so good that the Pirates purchased his release. Bill performed in the Pirate infield under Hugo Bezdek. When George Gibson took over the managerial reins, he made McKechnie his coach and assistant.

Gibson resigned dramatically in the middle of the 1922 season. Owner Dreyfuss immediately put McKechnie at the head of the club and Bill held the position right up to the present time.

MORGAN HOOTED IN COAST FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—This city had it's first championship boxing match in 14 years last night and today a bad taste was cleaving to the roof of the mouths of some 15,000 spectators who saw Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion of the world, successfully defend his title against the ancient Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion.

Morgan won every round from the Italian fighter but collected nothing but hoots, with the exception of the cash, of course, for his efforts.

Probe Ordered in Fight Club Riot

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—An investigation of the riot at the Pioneer athletic club last night in which a mob of fight fans attacked Referee Jimmy Crowley, was ordered today by the New York boxing commission.

The mob scene occurred after Crowley had disqualified Lew Hurley on a foul in the third round of his bout with Sammy Dorfman.

Crowley was struck on the head by a chair hurled by one of the mob and a slight scalp wound inflicted. Police, with their nightsticks, soon quelled the riot.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

You will note that when you hit from the inside out with the mashie making the blade appear to cut across the ball as you take it, the divot you cut will be straight with the line of direction, as it should be. (Fig. 2). When you try to hit into the ball and straight through it your divot will be cut diagonally across the flight line toward the left (Fig. 1). This should be sufficient proof that you are turning in and cutting across the ball to the left. However, if you note that your divots cut slightly across the flight line yet the ball goes satisfactorily it will be as well to keep on playing your mashie shots as you are, for your swing will give the ball a natural "cut" that will hold it on the green. However, always play some to the left of the pin and figure the ball to roll toward the pin after it [illegible].

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THE signing of Dan Howley, he of the big smile, to manage the Boston Red Sox next season, startled some close followers of baseball due to the fact that Howley, as manager of the Toronto club, and closely allied with the Detroit Tigers through a working agreement between the clubs, seemed the logical man to succeed Ty Cobb as pilot in Detroit town.

This on the assumption that Cobb is destined to step out as pilot of the Jungaleers.

However, Howley will labor under much more advantageous conditions at Boston than he would have at Detroit had he been offered and accepted that job. This for the reason that because of his working relations with Cobb of recent years some of the hangers might have suspected in his selection some "boring from within." Howley is not that kind of a bird. Also, he and Cobb have a mutual respect for one another that would forestall any such actions.

At Boston, Howley—if given free rein—will get order out of chaos in a hurry. He may not know ball players any better than Lee Fohl, the retiring pilot, but he acts much quicker on his judgment. He carries only men he believes will deliver in a reasonable time and become reliable ball players. If a player gives indications of being a "flashy" star but not a consistent, dependable performer, Howley gets rid of him. Howley has shown his ability to choose players in developing the Toronto team in a pennant-winning aggregation. For two or three years before he landed the international league pennant this season Howley was the only man to give Jack Dunn and his Baltimore Orioles a run for the flag held by Dunn for six or seven years.

Howley showed the major league moguls, through the players he sent to Detroit, that he could develop youngster in jig time and make big league timber out of them. Young Gehringer, Tiger infielder, is one of Howley's pupils. Owen Carroll, college pitching star, will be ready next spring to show the majors how Howley can train pitchers.

Boston has made a wise selection. It is due Howley, however, that he be given a real chance by turning over to him complete authority in acquiring and disposing of players.

Speaking of managers, the report that Uncle Wilbert Robinson may have to fight for his job as president-manager of the Dodgers this winter is interesting—doubly so in view of the fact that Robbie figuratively ran the whole works last season.

Just who the stockholders of the Brooklyn club could find at this time to carry on the "general utility" role played by Robbie is a mystery to me.

The annual winter report that Eddie Roush, star center fielder of the Reds, is to be traded next spring is with us. This time, however, there is a bit of strength lent to the report by the fact that Red players and fans have been peeved at Roush ever since his poor playing in a double-header against the Boston Braves late in the season. The Braves socked the Reds twice in one afternoon and Roush's poor playing helped in the rout. The two blows in the same place virtually killed the chances of the Reds to land the flag.

If Roush is unpopular with the Red fans he probably will get a change of scenery this time. It is well known Hendricks would like a star infielder or a pitcher or two to strengthen his team.

CHICAGO HEAVY SCRAP IS DRAW

Delaney and Wiggins Please Fans in 10-round Battle.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Jimmy Delaney, of St. Paul, and Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, may not be the world's greatest heavyweights, but 5,000 Chicago fight fans were willing to testify today that the Delaney-Wiggins affair at the Coliseum last night was the best seen in Illinois since the rebirth of legalized boxing.

Throughout ten sensational rounds these fellows fought with everything they had. The referee called it a draw. It couldn't have been anything else. Both fighters were cheered to the echo as they left the ring.

They fought like demons, and with the speed of lightweights. There was not a dull moment during the entire bout. After going down for a count of nine in the eight round, Delaney came back strong in the final rounds and carried the fight to Wiggins. Both men left the ring with blood-smeared faces and apparently exhausted.

They fought the windup event in a show that was touted as the "battle of the heavyweights." There were five bouts between big fellows on the card. All of them pleased the fans.

New York to Watch Army-Navy Elevens In Next Year's Game

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 20.—New York has drawn the Army-Navy football game for 1927, while the 1928 contest will be played in Philadelphia, naval academy authorities announced today.

The athletic authorities of the two service schools also announced they had signed a four-year agreement for the games, carrying with it West Point's adoption of the one-year rule, which means that cadets will not be eligible to participate in varsity athletics until after one year of academic work. This rule has been in effect at Annapolis for more than three years.

The agreement will become effective July 1 next, and extends until July 1, 1930.

ACADEMY ELEVEN WANTS CONTESTS

The Academy Billiard football team is in the field for games with elevens in the 145 to 150-pound class.

For games call the Academy parlors and ask for William Plant.

Abandon Long Passes.

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 20.—The Dartmouth coaches have abandoned the long and involved forward passes which for years have featured the team's attack. The eleven was to concentrate today on developing a system of short passes for the Harvard game Saturday.

Use Dartmouth Plays.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20.—Following a rather mediocre showing yesterday, the Harvard varsity today will be put through another scrimmage with a team of ineligibles using Dartmouth formations.

High Gridders Leave Local Lot Saturday For First Road Tilt

Will Clash With Strong Toronto Eleven; Blue and White Coaches to Continue Development of Forward Passes.

WITH the squad in fairly good condition, despite a gruelling battle Saturday with the Brown and White of East Palestine, Coach George Kidder and his charges Saturday will leave the home gridiron and friendly atmosphere of Columbian park for the first time this season, ready to tackle Toronto high in the initial road game of the campaign.

The power of the Blue and White forward line remained inflexible in the East Palestine setto with the sole exception of holes that appeared at times at center. In Lemly, left guard, and Gorby, center, the visitors displayed a couple of linemen that need not doff their lids to any that have appeared against the locals this season and the fact that they broke through occasionally is no disgrace to the East Liverpool forwards. This pair displayed more defensive strength than any other two or three linemen, on either the Sebring or the Akron East combines.

Captain Dick Larkins, who has been idle since the Akron combat, as a result of an injured shoulder was anxious to get back into action against East Palestine Saturday but Coach Kidder would not permit it, fearing a recurrence of the injury. Whether Larkins will be needed in the Toronto contest is problematical.

The Jefferson countians will be no set-up. That much appears to be certain after their great fight against Follansbee Saturday in which they held the West Virginians, who had previously triumphed over Chester, to a scoreless tie.

The local coaches doubtlessly will polish up the forward passing attack that the Blue and White revealed Saturday, seeing in it the possibility of developing a powerful method of ground gaining and a punch that may help to win games in the future.

Scrimmage for State.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 20.—Another hard scrimmage session was on tap this afternoon for Ohio State's gridders who hook up with Iowa at the stadium here next Saturday. Coach Wilce is paying particular attention to developing his offense.

Wills is Suspended By Commisison for Sharkey Bout Fouls

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Harry Wills, recently defeated contender for the world's heavyweight championship, and Jack Sharkey, who defeated Wills and moved into his position as runner-up in the ranks of the big fellows, have run afoul of the New York boxing commission's displeasure.

Wills was suspended for thirty days for using foul tactics in his fight with Sharkey, and the latter, by failing to appear before the commission yesterday to post a $2,500 forfeit of good faith in his challenge to Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, slipped a rung in the good graces of his one-time fast friends, the commissioners.

Sharkey had issued his challenge via long distance telephone from Boston, but neglected to send on the money order for deposit. Neither did his manager, Johnnie Buckley, put in an appearance.

STUDY SIBERIA IN PROGRAM OF DEVELOPMENT

Area Twice Size of United States Offers Exploitation Chance.

GROUND FROZEN

Western Part Immense Nation of Fertile Land.

WASHINGTON.—Western Siberia is one of the greatest areas of level, fertile farm land, awaiting development in all the temperate, cereal-producing regions, according to a survey of the commercial possibilities of this vast country prepared by the department of commerce.

Eastern and south-eastern Siberia is a great forest region, immensely rich in minerals and already famed for its fisheries and furs.

The climate of these regions is not dissimilar to that of the Dakotas and Minnesota—with hardly lower temperatures it is drier, with many hours of sunshine per year, modifying the effect of the more northern latitude.

All of Siberia, however, is by no means either fertile or salubrous, according to the report. The northern part, bordering the Arctic ocean is a vast plain across which it is possible to look for miles and miles over growth of tiny trees. The ground is frozen deep down, the year around, only the surface thawing out during the warm season.

5,000,000 Square Miles.

"It is estimated that of Siberia's total area of 5,000,000 square miles—nearly twice that of United States—about one-quarter is actually adaptable to human exploitation, aside from perhaps the fishing and fur industries," the report set forth.

Siberia is among the world's largest areas awaiting development.

The gigantic distances in Siberia—5,000 miles from west to east and 2,300 miles from north to south—places the transportation questions and freight cost as the paramount consideration in any development plan.

"This unfavorable factor—distance—is accentuated, moreover by Siberia's geographical location, far remote from the most important world commercial centers and nearly isolated from world-trade routes,' the report continued.

"Arctic ice blocks the way from the north and northeast; roadless mountains close it in on the southeast and west; while to the south scantily populated steppes and deserts hinder communication.

The main artery of human activity in Siberia is the Trans-Siberian railroad, traversing its entire width from the Urals to the Pacific ocean. Rail transportation charges, however, are prohibitive in many lines of goods on long hauls."

Commerce department experts say that the water transportation facilities of Siberia assume special significance. An all-water route would insure to Siberia low freight costs between the world markets and any inland point and would be a factor of utmost importance in its commercial development.

Four Great Rivers.

The country contains four mighty rivers—the Ob, the Uenisei, the Lena and the Amur, and these with their tributaries from a network of waterways covering the entire length and breadth of the land.

It has been estimated, experts said, that with comparatively small outlay these waterways can be linked into one great all-Siberian water course, with outlets to the Pacific and Arctic oceans.

"To most people Siberia is a cold, bleak, forbidding region in which it is impossible to live with any degree of comfort," the report said.

"That idea is derived from the narratives of explorers, fur traders, and persons imprisoned or exiled in Siberia who have emphasized the severities of the climate in a region where there are few conveniences of civilization.

"A similar idea prevailed for many years with regard to western Canada. Literature as recent as within the last 40 or 50 years speaks of what has now become the most productive wheat region of the Canadian northwest as a "cold, bleak and inhospital section."

Should Men Powder and Paint?

Some do and some don't. Some men publicly douse themselves with scented talcums and sweet-smelling perfumes while others secretly apply facial beautifiers behind locked doors. Is the good old he-man of bygone days gone forever?
